Envoys of Stresemann Seek Views of London and Paris Officials

INDUSTRIALISTS IN RUHR IN ULTIMATUM

Government Awaits Action On Reparations Before Answering Defy

(By United Press Leased Wire) BERLIN, Oct. 9.—The German government took another step today towards ending the Ruhr deadlock and resuming reparations payments.

Through its ambassadors at Paris and London, the Stresemann government inquired whether France and England were prepared to negotiate regarding necessary details, it was learned reliably this afternoon.

Until the replies are received, the government proposes to withhold its answer to a so-called industrialist ultimatum delivered today by big business interests headed by Hugo Stinnes.

This "ultimatum," to which an answer was asked not later than this evening, demanded repayment of coal confiscated during the Ruhr occupation, restitution of compulsory coal taxes collected during this period, removal of the coal tax, permission for the industrialists to continue negotiations with General De Goutte, commanding the occupation forces and other minor advantages.

German labor, which is organizing for a fight against the industrialists, will oppose these demands to the "bitter end," the government, armed with a vote of confidence in the Reichstag made the advance to the allies with a view to forestalling a gathering civil warfare which would mean the end of the Stresemann regime.

Hugo Stinnes, stung by charges of Bernhard in the Vossische Zeitung, a statement under his own name, denying the charges. In a lengthy article, Stinnes revealed that he and other industrialists met towards the end of September and agreed upon the eight hour day in the mines. They also decided to refuse a demand for higher wages and to decrease immediately the price of coal.

BELGIUM MAKES EARLY REPLY TO GERMAN

BRUSSELS, Oct. 9.—Belgium today made prompt answer to the German inquiry regarding resumption of reparations negotiations. Foreign Minister M. Jaspar replied there were two vital considerations to be disposed of before Belgium would negotiate:

1.—The Ruhr railway men must be ordered to return to work immediately.

2.—Germany must pay for the coal produced by her industrialists in the Ruhr for reparations.

EXTENSIVE PLANS FOR FEDERAL AID TO FARMERS TOLD

(By United Press Leased Wire) KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 9.—A program for relieving wheat farmers from their economic difficulties, which will be presented to President Coolidge, will be adopted by the International Farm Congress, opening here tomorrow.

Experts for the congress have been working out a plan which will be presented to the meeting for approval, and then submitted to the administration.

The scheme is understood to be along the lines of that outlined by the United States department of agriculture, which includes formation of a government corporation to purchase all surplus wheat for export and act as agent in selling the grain abroad.

Leaders in the farm congress believe this plan would immediately place wheat upon a higher price level and would not furnish merely temporary relief, but could be concentrated over a long period, if necessary.

Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, is now enroute to Kansas City to discuss with delegates to the congress the farmers' situation and help frame a positive and aggressive program of relief.

The tentative plan is for government experts to work out the price at which wheat should sell in order to return a fair profit to farmers and then congress enact legislation allowing the federal authorities to guarantee to buy the surplus at this price.

When the government corporation had purchased all of the surplus wheat, its agents would then go to foreign countries and sell the stocks on hand at best prices obtainable, cutting under prices of grain from other nations if necessary.

If the federal corporation sustained losses, it would be assessed in an excise tax on the wheat crop for the following year. This would serve as a check on over-production and would get away from opposition to the government creating a subsidy for aiding farmers.

Ship Will Take Its Own Ice to Alaska

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 9.—Carrying ice to Alaska, the proverbial counterpart of carrying coal to New Castle, is just what the steamer Buford will do when she leaves this port. The vessel is importing fresh meat from the American markets and finds that it is cheaper to buy its packing ice here than to pay loading charges for ice in Nome.

IGNORE VIEW OF VISITOR ON CRISIS THIRD PARTY UNDER FIRE IN MEET

Lloyd George's Praise of Hughes' Plan Fails to Stir Administration Federation Delegates In Bitter Dispute Over Political Resolution

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The United States government has no objection to giving further support to the Hughes suggestion for an international commission to investigate Germany's capacity to pay reparations, despite Lloyd George's advocacy of this proposal, it was declared on high authority at the White House today.

The Hughes suggestion was made definitely to the European governments concerned a year ago, and it is still open to any country that may desire to take advantage of it, it was said at the White House.

Secretary Hughes' attitude has been that nothing will be done toward putting his plan into effect while France maintained her refusal to consider the proposal. Replying to the recent suggestion made by Senator Copeland that the United States call an economic conference, the White House spokesman declared that the American government has no present intention of attempting to bring about such a meeting.

The attitude of the United States as explained at the White House is that the present situation in European politics would make such a step as the calling of the conference impracticable at this time.

The condition of mind in Europe would not be conducive to a successful conclusion of such a conference, it was said. There would be no use in calling an economic conference unless there was good reason to believe that it would be effective.

LOYD GEORGE FINDS TIME FOR GOLF

WITH LLOYD GEORGE, MONTREAL, QUE., Oct. 9.—After a round of golf at the Dixie club, Lloyd George and his party departed for Ottawa this afternoon aboard their special train.

The former premier was in better spirits. He was pleased with the success of his big Montreal meeting yesterday and having issued orders that his future Canadian programs be less strenuous than the one planned for him here, he had recovered entirely from the fear that he would be unable to stand the rapid pace which seemed to be required on the American continent.

Lord Renfrew, the Prince of Wales, arrived from Ottawa today. Lloyd George was golfing at the time and remained at the golf club until just before train time. No attempt was made to arrange a meeting between the two.

Arriving at Ottawa early this evening, Lloyd George is to be entertained at dinner at the Royal Ottawa Golf club while Dame Lloyd George and Miss Megan will dine at government house.

British Horse Under 'Pull' During Tryout

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Papyrus, English derby winner to race Zev, the American 3-year-old October 20 for the international championship, had his first real work-out today on the Belmont Park track.

Heavy snow in the mountains turned the second plane back. Rain and snow east of Rock Springs with the same condition prevailing here, forced Whitmore to descend.

BLAME UNUSUAL CURRENTS FOR SEA CRASH

(By United Press Leased Wire) SEATTLE, Oct. 9.—That an unusual sea current, presumably a result of the Japanese earthquake and other undersea disturbances, was the indirect cause of the Point Honda naval disaster, will be the defense theory, it was intimated today when the government rested its case in the probe and testimony for the defendants was started.

Officers and men from four of the destroyers, the Hamilton, Thompson, Kennedy and Stoddard, which escaped unscathed on the rocks of Point Arguello, will be called to testify before the official investigation of the wreck of seven destroyers is ended, it was learned here today.

Most of their testimony is expected to corroborate that already given by the officers of the vessels following the ill-fated first seven. These men have already told how they saved their ships either by judging in advance that the course of the flagship was wrong or by reversing propellers and sheering off when they saw the confusion ahead.

"30" BULLETINS

2 VESSELS PERILED ON NORTHERN COAST

Motorship Is Ashore and Liner Loses Propeller; Both Ask Help

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN PEDRO, Oct. 9.—Somewhere between this port and the Panama canal the steamer Swiftwind, oil tanker, with a crew of thirty-two men, is missing, and shipping men here expressed the belief today that the vessel had gone down with all hands.

Ten days ago the Swiftland should have arrived in Fall River, Mass., but she has never even reached the Panama canal and nothing has been heard of her since she sailed from this port on September 4.

The vessel was 5,900 tons net and carried a cargo of 70,000 barrels of crude oil. Two months ago wreckage of the Swiftstar, a sister ship which also disappeared mysteriously, was found on an island in the Caribbean.

MOTORSHIP PERILED ON ROCKY ALASKAN COAST

SEATTLE, Oct. 9.—In answer to SOS calls from the Alaskan Steamship company's motorship Kennicott, which was reported pounding on the rocks at Frederick Island, south of the Alaska line, left the port of Wrangle fifteen minutes later and was expected to reach the distressed vessel by 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Kennicott, bound from the Orient to Seattle via Alaska, was on the last leg of her trip when she struck. At low tide this morning the Kennicott was high and dry on the rocks. She is believed to carry few if any passengers.

The last message received from the Kennicott was at 1:10 a. m. today and fears are felt here that the vessel is in serious danger with the breaking down of her wireless.

The Kennicott is in command of Captain Johnson and carries a crew of forty men. She was enroute from Kobe, Japan, to Seattle via Seward, Alaska. Her difficulty is believed due to a storm that has been sweeping Arctic waters.

Announcement was made here today by T. P. McKee, community secretary of the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A., of the program of clubs to be active in "Y" work in schools and colleges here this winter. Five men have taken an active leadership of county "Y" clubs, and a big program has been prepared which will keep all busy attending the various meetings of the clubs, McKee said.

With the establishing of the district plan of Y.M.C.A. work throughout Orange county, McKee added, "and the securing of trained secretaries for each district, Orange county, steadily growing for the past three years from a one man Y.M.C.A. program, today has five men associated together in directing the association program. They are A. J. Raitt of Fullerton, W. L. Ashleigh of Anaheim, C. E. Morrow of Orange, T. P. McKee of Santa Ana, and G. S. Chessum, the county secretary.

Clubs Are Outlined
"Three great programs for boys are the basis of their efforts, all emphasizing Christian citizenship as follows:

"The pioneer program, for boys groups 12 to 14 years old; the 'comrade' program, one for boys 15 to 18 years old.

Both of these are four-fold as to development, not just for 'leisure time' or 'club meetings,' but linking up every activity in the boy's life and challenging him to his best. The 'Hi-Y' program is for high school fellows desirous of uniting themselves together for service in school and community.

"A composite of the policies of the association throughout the county reveals the following opportunities:

The organization of 40 pioneer clubs, enrolling 440; thirty-eight clubs, enrolling 447; seven Hi-Y clubs, with 160 members; two junior college clubs, enrolling 55; a total of eighty-seven clubs with 1102 enrolled in definite Christian character building programs.

Men's Work Outlined
Leadership training classes in as many communities are now being organized to make possible this program.

"The work of the association does not stop there, however, for we find an increasing demand on the part of the men for a part in the program; therefore, twenty-seven men's groups, with an enrollment of 495 are also on the state; with special groups for Mexican boys and boys under 12 years old, also being discussed.

"These figures do not include at all the numbers that will participate in the splendid building program at Santa Ana, when the new Y.M.C.A. opens there on January 1."

FRAUD CHARGE HELD MISTAKE; DISMISSED

An embezzlement charge recently filed against Jack Rodman of Santa Ana was dismissed here today by Justice J. B. Cox on motion of the district attorney's office, it being shown that the charge grew out of a misunderstanding.

Rodman had been left in charge of arrangements for closing out the affairs of Mrs. Lillian Jones, his employer, who recently sold her shoe store in this city to another firm. It was shown that Mrs. Jones, subsequently, it was said, came to the conclusion that Rodman had disappeared with her automobile and $1,000 of her money. She filed the embezzlement charge.

An investigation was said to have revealed that the money was on deposit in a Santa Ana bank and that Rodman had not absconded.

COURT DENIES DAMAGES
G. W. Purkey, Santa Ana real estate agent, failed in his effort to collect $500 damages from Christian Brothers, local motor car dealers. It was shown today in the superior court here, following a decision by Superior Judge Z. B. West yesterday in favor of the defense.

Purkey based his damage claim upon allegations that the automobile firm sold him a 1922 model car, representing it to be a 1923 model. Attorney James L. Allen represented Purkey, Attorney Clyde Bishop appearing for the defense.

WINTER COURSE OF EVENTS IS JR. H. S. PLAN

Six lyceum courses, including such artists as the Laura Werno Ladies' quartette and Selma Lenhart, noted for her dramatic work in Pittsburgh, have been procured for the winter entertainment course of ten events, to be sponsored by both junior high schools of Santa Ana, under the direction of Will F. Kellogg and H. G. Nelson, principals, respectively.

The Francis E. Willard and the Julia C. Lathrop junior high schools. Beside the six courses obtained from outside sources, four entertainments will be given by the students of the two schools.

Season tickets are being sold to the series of entertainments by the Girls' league of the two schools. Adults' tickets for the season are $2 and for children and students $1.

All concerts and entertainments, Kellogg stated, will be held in the auditorium of the Francis E. Willard junior high school on North Main street.

Plans Formed
Dates for the entertainment to be given by the junior high school students have not been set. It is the present plan, according to Kellogg, for each school to give two of the ten concerts. He stated that the glee clubs, bands, orchestras, and what other musical talent found among the students would be used, and added that several readings were planned.

Varied forms of entertainment were put on the program, Kellogg said, in order that the series would provide something everyone would enjoy. In the high school concerts the two principals expect to use as many students as possible, stating that they believed the experience would benefit the students and would be of interest to the general public.

First of the lyceum courses to appear will be the Laura Werno Ladies' quartette October 17. Members of this quartette are both singers and instrumentalists who were directed by Laura Werno, a well known dramatic interpreter and musician. The company features musical and dramatic sketches that reproduce the dress, manners and songs of various periods in American history.

In Dramatic Work
Selma Lenhart will appear November 9. She has been engaged in dramatic work since she was 14 years old and has devoted most of her time to directing and producing plays in Pittsburgh.

December 4 Geoffrey Morgan will give one of his lectures. He is a graduate of Stanford and Columbia universities, a regular contributor to magazines in the United States, and was, for three years, supervising principal of schools at Riverside, and was known then as a speaker of prominence.

The Marco company, magicians, is scheduled to appear January 29 to give a series of performances, showing that the hand is quicker than the eye.

Last on the program is the Van O. Browne Novelty trio, who will come February 8. Browne is accompanied by Alfred Adams, a violinist, piano-mandolin player and baritone, and Albert Downing, a violinist, pianist, and tenor. They spent the entire summer in New York City singing and playing at the various theaters.

'VICE WAR' OF 'VIGILANTES' GIVEN AID

Weapons of Orange county's "moral vigilantes," aimed to deal fast blows to boxing and to "disable" public dance halls in the county, today were being shared by voters not members of the "vice crusade" committee of civic club members, W. B. Martin, chairman, disclosed here.

These weapons—two petitions, one dealing with boxing and the other with dance halls—originally were handed members of the committee to wield. Martin pointed out, but others, apparently anxious to assist actively, he continued, called for the machinery of the morals drive themselves.

"Response in signing these petitions is far greater than we anticipated," Martin added. "The reality board here endorsed them and signed the petitions almost 100 per cent. The Men's Community Bible class, which launched the movement, signed them to a member."

Both H. C. Head, circulating in the Buena Park district, and George Chessum, Huntington Beach, have taken out a second allotment. Each member of the committee was given twenty petitions of fifty signature spaces each.

"The first 200 petitions prepared were gone within a short time; the committee has made 200 more."

In addition to the two foregoing districts, M. B. Wellington has charge of the circulation of Santa Ana and vicinity; S. M. Davis, Irvine and Newport, and C. E. Frost, Orange.

The dance hall petition calls for the supervisors' levying a substantial license tax on public dance halls to cover asserted costs involved in policing. Martin pointed out, adding that the sum contemplated should be sufficient to serve as a regulatory element.

Two Accused In Auto Theft Due for Hearing

EXPECTED DIVORCE CLASH FALLS FLAT

The scheduled divorce court clash between Lincoln McCulloch of Yorba Linda and his wife, Annie McCulloch, failed to materialize today in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court here, where McCulloch secured an interlocutory decree of divorce by default. Mrs. McCulloch did not appear to contest the decree, although he had filed an answer and cross-complaint in the case and was expected to fight for custody of her two children, who are now with their father.

McCulloch charges that his wife deserted him at Yorba Linda August 26, 1921. Mrs. McCulloch countered with the charge that she was the one who was deserted. Both agreed that a property settlement had been made, but Mrs. McCulloch contended that it gave her custody of the children and $60 per month for their support.

Attorney Clyde Bishop represented McCulloch in court today.

SCOUT TRAFFIC 'COPS' BUSY ON N. MAIN

Boy Scouts, working in two shifts, directed traffic and helped school children in crossing the intersections of streets adjacent to the public schools on North Main street today.

The Scouts, under the joint direction of the principals and Chief Scout Executive Roland E. Dye, halted traffic whenever necessary in order to safely conduct the small children across the streets at the intersections where white lines mark the lanes through which the children are allowed to pass.

No complaints have been made, according to Dye, from the passing autoists, who seem willing to co-operate in the new plan which was devised by the principals of public schools, the Boy Scouts, and the Santa Ana Association of Insurance agencies, and which was approved at the last meeting of the city council.

The Scouts are divided into two shifts, explained Dye, twelve working in the forenoon and twelve in the afternoon. They take their posts at forty-minute periods and noon and closing hours in order to protect the children against careless motorists. The biggest rush of children came at noon today, when school let out for the noonday meal. The Scouts were forced to stop traffic for a few minutes in order to allow the children to cross the streets in safety.

Dye reported that the children understand the directions given them yesterday by their teachers, and said that the Boy Scouts are not having much trouble in following out the plan as outlined. He expressed the belief that the working of the Scouts' activities will greatly reduce the danger that public school children face in crossing the streets where there is much traffic.

SUSPECTS IN FATAL FIRE YET ARE HELD

Sheriff Sam Jernigan still was holding Manuel Felix, Elidoro Ybarra and Pablo Banaga in the county jail here today for investigation of their possible connection with Sunday's fire at Talbert in which W. Rapdell, 82, was burned to death.

The trio and a fourth, an unidentified Mexican who was injured, figured in an automobile collision at Greenville shortly after they had been seen, the officers declared, to drive from Talbert at a furious rate of speed just before the fire was discovered.

"Yes'm Their Daughter'n Law Done Come Back on 'em"

explained Delia as she poised a hot iron over Mrs. Murray's best table cloth. Delia dispensed fine "han' landering" and gossip to five families on North Broadway.

"Is that so," said Mrs. Murray, putting away clean clothes. "That's the wife of Mrs. Collins' eldest son Ted, the one that died a month ago!"

"Yes'm," agreed Delia. "Misteh Ted's wife. She got a little boy and Mr. Ted didn't leave no money for to take care of them. He allus was careless 'bout money."

"I wonder where Mrs. Collins is going to put her," said Mrs. Murray.

"Oh, Mis' Collins got a swell room fix up for Miss Marion. Fine new furniture, all circassium walnut and new curtains—mighty han'some fixin's—cost a-plenty."

"My goodness," mused Mrs. Murray. "I wonder where she got the money. It was only last week she told me her money was all tied up in investments."

Delia's sharp ears caught it: "Yes'm, I heard Mis' Collins say she got the money out'n a Plan."

Mrs. Murray blushed to think she was allowing herself to gossip with a servant, and hurried out. But the phrase "out'n a plan" stuck in her mind and eventually she wandered over to the Collins home.

Mrs. Collins smiled when her daughter-in-law was mentioned. "You know I nearly had a panic; she didn't have a stick of furniture; and you know how low our ready cash was. If I hadn't heard of the HORTON EASY PAYMENT PLAN I don't know what I would have done."

"What is that," asked Mrs. Murray nearly passing out with curiosity.

"Oh, it's the grandest plan. I picked out all this furniture, paid only a small amount down and pay just a little each month. It took such a load off my mind. Aren't I lucky?"

"And clever too—I must say," smiled her friend.

White and Miss Margaret White.

Following the enjoyment of a delectable luncheon menu, guests were assigned partners for bridge which served to while away the afternoon. Mrs. Roscoe Griffith, holding high score, was awarded an attractive beaded vanity bag while to Mrs. Don Andrews was given a pretty pillow and to Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon an equally attractive prize for prowess at cards.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES, IS COUNCIL AIM

WEST MYRTLE, SO. GARNSEY PAVING LET

Wells and Bressler, contractors, before the city council here last night, were the successful bidders for 141,660 square feet of paving ordered by the council for West Myrtle and South Garnsey streets. The low figure was 20.9 cents per square foot, with a part of the contract being awarded at the higher figure of 50 cents per square foot.

The council instructed City Engineer W. G. Knox to make every effort to complete temporary repairs on North Parton street, between Thirteenth and Seventeenth streets, before the rains set in. Property owners, under agreement, will furnish rock and oil. Councilman Killen said this street is impossible in wet weather.

Dr. F. W. Slabaugh requested that negotiations for opening Valencia street be held in abeyance, pending other arrangements being made by himself and his fellow subdividers in this district. The council granted this request.

Other routine matters disposed of by the council included instructions to the city engineer to co-operate with the Newbert protection district in protecting the banks of the "canal" near the city's proposed screening plant; adoption of plans for paving Bishop street, between Flower and Shelton, determining unpaid assessments for North Bush street paving, and authority for the Crown State line to install a 1000-gallon gasoline tank near its Bush-street garage.

Request of the Pacific Electric Land company that its bus lines be transferred to the Pacific Electric Railway was referred to City Attorney Ness.

L. H. Van Ness was authorized to operate a grocery at 1101 Cypress avenue.

The city engineer was ordered to prepare plans and specifications for paving Artesia street, from Fifth to Washington, and certain sections of Oak and Elm streets. Plans will be presented next Monday night for paving Forest avenue, between Fourth and Fifth.

ECONOMY DRIVE OF GOV. HELD FAR-REACHING

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9.—Governor Richardson says the state economy campaign has had its effect in causing supervisors to fix lower county rates, as evidenced by the fact that thirty-six counties have reduced or stopped further increase and others have made only slight increases.

In a statement made here today the governor added: "The economy campaign is having a far-reaching effect. The example set by the state in saving $12,000,000 to the people in the budget has been reflected in the counties. The following counties have reduced their tax rates: Los Angeles, Alameda, Sacramento, San Bernardino, Tulare, Stanislaus, Kings, Sonoma, Glenn, Butte, Contra Costa, Sutter, Placer, Madera, El Dorado, Calaveras, Lake, Del Norte, Amador, Inyo and Fresno. These, it will be noted, are among the largest in the state. The fifteen counties where increased taxation has been checked include San Francisco, Santa Clara, Yuba, Merced, Solano, Orange, Mendocino and eight others. In the counties where there have been increases the amount has been small.

"While, of course, the state has no control whatever over county tax rates, still the effect of the economy campaign I have made during the past two years has resulted in stopping the orgy of extravagance and has been felt throughout the state in the various smaller political subdivisions.

"I proposed to keep up my fight to protect the taxpayers regardless of the opposition of legislative squanderers, reactionary spendthrifts, the old discredited political machine, and the tax eaters whose jobs have been abolished.

"The people defeated this motley and discredited gang at the primaries last year, at the election, in the recent legislature, and are ready to give them another drubbing.

"In the final analysis the people pay every cent of taxation and the silly sophists who hold otherwise have lost their power to fool the people."

Man Late In Court Loses $20,000 Suit

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 8.—It is possible that being fifteen minutes late in court has cost Lewis K. Stinson $20,000. Stinson was the plaintiff in a damage suit against George Buquet. Failure of Stinson to appear in the superior court at the time set for hearing rendered his counsel unable to oppose a motion for dismissal on the part of the attorney for the defendant. The motion to dismiss, made on the grounds of non-appearance of the plaintiff, was allowed by Judge Erwin W. Owen.

Shortly after the court had adjourned and Judge Owen had removed to the chamber of the court the plaintiff appeared, hobbling on crutches and attended by a doctor.

For injuries which he claimed were sustained when he was wounded in the knee during a fight Stinson asked damages for $20,000.

NEWEST SPEED 'NEMESIS' IS COMMENDED

Certain careless gents who have been flaunting the law, with reference to the little matter of traffic violations in the city of Santa Ana will do well to watch the tantalizing toe and curb the overwhelming urge to override the rights of their fellows, according to Mayor J. W. Tubbs.

"We've a recorder at the city hall now who can sock 'em harder than Jack Dempsey," said His Honor at the meeting of the city council here last night, "and I'm telling the listening world that Goepfer doesn't hesitate to sock it to 'em."

"And that's exactly as it should be. Without any desire to criticize, it is admittedly true that too many flagrant violations of traffic regulations have been allowed to go unpunished. As a result, some of these chronic offenders got so they thought they were bigger than the law. A few stiff fines, impartially imposed, will bring them to time."

"There was a time when you could slip out of it if a traffic officer turned you in, or a patrolman pinned a red tag on your car. But now when you walk into the city hall with a red tag, it means that you are going to have to do some tall explaining, or dig down and pay."

"We all know what the automobile laws are. These laws are sane and beneficial. Let's all try to observe them, in parking, in driving and in all other respects. No man has a right to try to slip out of it when he is nailed by an officer, honestly striving to do his duty. And the courts must back up the officers."

ZIG-ZAG STREETS HIT BY TRUSTEES

New York and Boston may go in for zig-zag streets and jogsy avenues, but Santa Ana will have none of these. Such was the unanimous decision of the city council here last night in declining to sanction a jog in Western avenue, between Eighth street and Washington avenue.

Tom Scudder, property owner, and other residents, who appeared before the council, argued the question, pro and con, in connection with a new subdivision in this particular district. The question of sixty-foot streets also figured largely in a lengthy discussion.

Scudder said he was diametrically opposed to jogs. Other residents agreed with him. Still others disagreed.

"It is the belief of the members of the council," said Mayor Tubbs, "that we should avoid jogs whenever it is possible. There are streets with jogs, of course, but they are far from sightly, and are to be avoided if at all possible."

The council decided that it would not accept tentative subdivision plans on Western avenue designating the jog that had precipitated the discussion.

"That takes a load off my mind," said one of the residents, as he departed. "I had been in doubt about building my house. If the jog had stood, I would have been in the clear, but minus the jog, my house, had I built it as originally planned, would probably have been located in the middle of the road. Guess I'll jog along now."

Council Votes With Register 'Bugs' In 'Series' Auto Ban

The rabid baseball fan will come into his own tomorrow, when The Register's big electrically-controlled scoreboard goes into action to record the titanic struggle between the Yankees and the Giants—and there will be no brazen automobiles to mar the pleasure of the hour. The city council took care of that last night.

By unanimous consent, the council decided to prohibit automobile traffic on Third street, between Broadway and Sycamore streets, while the championship games are being played in the East and reproduced by The Register.

"With the street literally packed with men and women," said Mayor Tubbs, "it is only right that we should order Third street closed during the hour or so that the games are being played. This will work a hardship on no one and will protect life and limb, and serve the public as it should be served. The people want to watch the scoreboard without interruption and free from danger."

Traffic officers will be stationed at the street intersections to divert traffic.

Re-Cleaning of Fair Grounds Is Ordered; Complaints In Airing

An annual fair is a great thing for the city and the county, but—

The fair executives, like good housewives, should have a thorough housecleaning and leave the fair grounds in good condition when the big show is all over.

Such, at least, is the belief of the city council, as expressed at last night's meeting of that body. "It has been reported," said Mayor J. W. Tubbs, "that certain portions of the Union Pacific right-of-way, used by the Orange County Fair association, were left in an unsanitary condition."

"This has particular reference to that section of the property devoted to the livestock. I am informed by complainants that, although manure and other refuse was removed, the work was not carefully done, and many flies have been attracted."

Councilman Neff said conditions near Fruit street, where the barns and rodeo were located, were felt in an unsanitary condition. The council ordered the sanitary inspection to see that the grounds are cleaned up at once.

TAKE STEPS IN LIGHTING OF BROADWAY

Broadway, regarded by many as one of the most beautiful streets in Santa Ana, soon will be one of the best-lighted thoroughfares in the Southland. Sixty-seven per cent of the residents on this street, between First street and Santa Clara avenue, having signed a petition in favor of the improvement, the city council, at its meeting last night, granted the petition and set in motion the necessary legal machinery to encourage bids by the respective electrical firms.

In calling attention to the fact to the ornamental lighting system that be installed on Broadway will be much the same as that to be placed on West Fourth and

30-MINUTE PARKING LIMIT AND QUICK ACTION VOICED

How long should an automobile be permitted to occupy space on Fourth street, or upon other busy streets in the business district, during the day—thirty-five minutes, forty-five minutes, on hour, or two hours? This old, old question, like Banquo's ghost, will not down. Members of the city council wrestled with the problem again last night.

"I have been hearing complaints," said Councilman George H. McPhee, "that we are altogether too lenient in the matter of parking in the downtown section. Do I make myself understood?"

"Perfectly," said Mayor John W. Tubbs. "I'm following you closely. For my part, I think two hours is entirely too long. Even the merchants are complaining."

Councilman Claude Killen thought an hour was ample. Whereupon Councilman McPhee asked:

Rival White House Dogs Yelp Supremacy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Laddie Buck, the Airedale pup, and Peter Pan, the equally youthful wire-haired terrier, carried their rivalry for the honor of being the official White House dog direct to President Coolidge. In doing so, they threatened to interrupt the chief executive in the midst of an address to delegates of the World's Dairy congress. The two dogs are quartered in kennels just under the south portico of the executive mansion. The President selected the steps of the portico as a place for addressing the dairy congress delegates, but got no more than started on his speech when a series of barks and yowls nearly drowned out his voice.

West Fifth streets. Mayor J. W. Tubbs urged the other members of the council to join him in a determined effort to see that the standards and installation are as nearly perfect as may be possible under the circumstances.

Councilman George H. McPhee urged that the bids for the lighting system be given the most careful scrutiny, and advised that the lights and standards be approved by competent inspectors, employed by the city, before the new system is finally accepted.

"I am strongly in favor of adequate lighting facilities for the city," said McPhee, "but let's do the job right, while we are about it, so there will be no come-back after the standards are placed in position and the wiring is installed."

With the bids of five firms before them, the councilmen decided to defer until next Monday night action in connection with awarding contracts for the ornamental lighting systems to be installed on Fourth and Fifth streets. Bids ranged from $54,797 to $72,334.

Junior High Tract, the last and best close in subdivision on Main boulevard to Ocean.

"Why an hour. Why not forty-five minutes?"

"That suits me," said Killen. "Thirty minutes is enough, I should think, on the busy streets."

In Santa Barbara, Mayor Tubbs explained, no vehicle is allowed to stand on a busy thoroughfare longer than thirty minutes. All members were agreed that Santa Ana's parking code must be revised.

"And I authorize you to revise it," said His Honor, addressing McPhee. "You and Councilman Neff."

But McPhee, not to be caught napping, advised His Honor that here was a problem that required many minds, working in unison. Despite His Honor's protest, the committee was enlarged to include Tubbs and Killen.

"You are both automobile experts," said McPhee, "and we'll need you."

The parking ordinances will be revised immediately.

TIMBER SALES NET STATE OF CAL. $320,000

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 9.—California has received $318,339.67 from the United States department of agriculture as its share of the receipts from national forest resources during the fiscal year 1923, according to an announcement made by the department. Word to this effect was received by Governor F. W. Richardson. California contains nineteen national forests located in various parts of the state. The total area amounts to 19,147,587 acres.

One-fourth of the moneys received by the department from timber sales, grazing permits, and other uses of national forest lands is turned over to the states in which such lands are located on a pro rata basis, in accordance with an act of congress. Such sums are for the school and road funds of the counties containing these lands.

The total sum turned over to all states containing national forests during the fiscal year 1923 amounted to $1,321,422. Twenty-seven states and Alaska shared in the distribution of this sum, which exceeded the annual average for the previous five years by about $250,000. Increased sales of timber were largely responsible for the record-breaking receipts of 1923.

Description in Rhyme Entertains Members Of Music Section

Birthday anniversaries, birthday greetings and even birthday cakes were all in evidence at yesterday's delightful social session of Ebell's Music section with Mrs.
Mitt Phillips at her North Main street home.

Celebrating the twenty-third year of the section's being, Mrs.
Phillips, one of the twelve original members, offered the hospitality of her home while Miss Leonora Tompkins, leader, planned a brief but interesting program opening with a cordial greeting to her section members and an outline of the year's work to be undertaken.

"America the Beautiful" was sung in unison and roll call responded to with current events.
During the short business session a decision was reached to meet henceforth at 2 o'clock and also to maintain a scrap-book of the section's activities. Miss Preble Drake will have charge of the book. Mrs. Harry Brackett will conduct the question box each meeting day.

Following Miss Tompkins' greeting, the entertaining program was opened by Mrs. Beatrice Le Blanc who, with Ethel Troxell Thompson at the piano, gave a group of beautifully played violin numbers, "Souvenir" and "Traumerel" both played with a degree of technical skill and a depth of understanding that left her hearers eager for more.

Eleanor Young Elliott, reader, in Oscar Wilde's "The Nightingale and the Rose" varied the musical program and for a second number gave Bertin Bralley's
"Jazz Lullaby." Miss Mabel Krause, one of the city's most brilliant pianists, then gave a group of three numbers, "Pensive Spinner" (Ganz), a magnificent Polish composition by Paderewski, "Craoivne Fantastique" and Chopin's Etude in C Minor.

Miss Tompkins then called upon the hostess, Mrs. Phillips who opened her interesting tale of the early days of the section by asking all to join in singing "Auld Lang Syne." Outlining the beginning of the section, she told of the first twelve members and how fate had scattered them until of the twelve were left but herself and Mrs. P. M. Gist who although no longer a member, was yesterday an honored guest.

Three members, older in point of connection with the section than any others were Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. Dearing and Mrs. Winbiger. Mrs. Phillips closed her remarks with clever original verses in laughing allusion to the present membership.
Sketching the section in general, she offered the following particulars:

For many years we've had Mrs.
Hayes
With her sweet songs and gentle ways.
We could not do without Miss
Preble Drake,
And hope this club she will ne'er forsake.
We can truthfully say of Mrs.
Harry Brackett,
She is still as a mouse and makes no racket.

And our dear Mrs. Wehrly, whose hair is so curly,
And who looks so girly,
And our new Mrs. Wells is one of our belles.

We are very glad to welcome Miss Patton,
Her business is, her patients to fatten.
One of our long-time members is always so cheering,
There is no mistake, that it's
Mrs. Dearing.
We would not forget our new Mrs.
Marshall,
To whom I know we will all be partial.

We have Mrs. Hamil our fine secretary,
Who never bores us or makes us weary.
For Mrs. Tawkinson there is no rhyme
But we are glad to greet her every time.

We are proud we have Mrs. Herbert Sammis
With her beautiful songs, she can ever calm us.
On Mrs. Crose we can always depend,
She does her part "even unto the end."

Mrs. Albright with husband and son
Gives us programs which are well done.
To Mrs. Tompkins, we extend a greeting
Whenever she comes to our club meeting.

To Mrs. Winbiger, we all give praise
She lends us her home and helps in many ways.

Golden Wedding Day Is Chosen By Daughter For Nuptials

A link of gold between a won-its happy celebration yesterday, October 8, in the C. P. Kryhl family, was supplied by a wedding ring. For that October day in 1873 which was the bridal day of Mr. and Mrs. Kryhl, was celebrated yesterday in a fitting manner when Miss Emma Kryhl, daughter of the home, and Andrew J. Haar-

Children, grand-children, nieces, nephews and cousins from all points in Southern California were drawn to the pleasant home at 215 East Tenth street yesterday for the golden wedding event. All af-

Laguna Shores Re-echo To Cadences of the French Language

One of the liveliest school events of the week-end was a novel meeting of the Junior College French club at Laguna Beach.

Swimming was enjoyed by many of the members for the surf bathing was ideal. Others clambered over the rocks until sundown, conversing in French and other languages at their command.

Supper around a blazing fire, with marshmallow roasting, was the next event. Miss Enid Twist, social chairman, Leah Crane, Ruth Langly, Persana Deimling, Gertrude Smith and Margaret Hayhurst had charge of the supper.

Walter Righter directed the French races which were the liveliest ever witnessed by the townpeople of Laguna. The club voted first honors to Persana Deimling and George Hanson.

French bowling, which immediately followed the races, was under the direction of Richard Nelson.
Scores were kept in French by Stuart Rittner, most proficient member of the club in French mathematics. Highest scores were made by Overton Luhr and Lucie McDermott, while consolation prizes went to Marjorie Tubbs and Norman Hicks.

Prizes were won by Miss Lella
Watson, faculty advisor, and Marjorie Tubbs in the interesting insect game originated by Ruth Langly.
Miss Langly proved herself equally original in arranging one of the most delightful dancing parties ever enjoyed by the club.

The members of the club all declared that even "gay Paree" would not have afforded them more real enjoyment than the usually quiet beach resort.

No mishaps marred the pleasure of the evening with the exception of minor difficulties encountered by Sylvan Karp, Jean Wilson, Adelaide Waffie and Pauline Carnahan, in leaving Laguna.

Members who were unable to attend are expressed great regret at having missed one of the most diversified and interesting meetings in the history of the French club.

Those who attended were: Pers-ana Deimling, Marjorie Tubbs, Lucie McDermott, Overton Luhr, Adelaide Waffie, Pauline Carnahan, Jean Wilson, Sylvan Karp, Clara Carmichael, Marcia Car-

Physicians' Wives In Social Session Plan For Future Work

Launching the winter's activities with a pleasant social event, Mrs. John I. Clark yesterday entertained members of the Clinical auxiliary at a luncheon of attractive appointments at St. Ann's Inn.

Assembled in the small private dining-room of the Inn, wires of the city's physicians found tables charming with autumn blossoms and an appetizing luncheon menu awaiting them. As the courses progressed, the spirited conversation centered upon needs at the community hospital and plans for the winter's work to fulfill those needs.

Sewing and mending were especially stressed and dismay was expressed that with such quantities to be done, there was no sewing machine at the hospital to be pressed into service. Since the need is one that affects the whole community, it is hoped by the auxiliary that some public spirited person owning a machine no longer needed will see fit to donate it to the hospital. For every second Monday afternoon, the Clinical auxiliary members, comprising the wives of physicians of the city who are interested in the present hospital and in building a new one, will meet with Miss Edith Patten, hospital superintendent, and devoted their time to sewing.

Recent work accomplished by the auxiliary was cleaning and re-decorating the cottage directly across from the hospital where the class of seven new probation nurses has its home.

Mrs. Clark is leader of the auxiliary and her guests at yesterday's pleasant affair included Mesdames Frank Ashmore, C. D. Ball, Dexter Ball, E. M. Beasley, H. N. Brothers, J. M. Burlew, A. N. Crain, R.
A. Cushman, James Farrage, C. R.
Lane, W. C. Mayes, John McAuley,
Ernest G. Molley, H. McVicker,
Smith, G. N. Traile, John Wehrly,
Rowland P. Yeagle, P. E. Coulter,
R. C. Burkett, R. M. Fortier, D. A.
Harwood, Miss Rosa Boyd and Miss Edith Patten.

One of Sunday's pleasant events was the delightful family dinner planned by Dr. and Mrs. Gunning Butler to honor George Warry of San Francisco, uncle and houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Flower of Irvine.

Graceful sprays of cosmos added attraction to the table where were seated the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Butler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Walker and her sister, Mrs. Flower with Mr. Flower, their two children, May and Barbara and Mr. Warry, honoree.

The San Francisco guest will remain in the southland two weeks or more.

Hostesses Institute Pleasant Series of Card Evenings

Planning to meet fortnightly for an informal evening of cards, a group of young women who were recent guests of Miss Betty Newlands and Miss Rosina Stair at their home, 801 East Fifth street, will be entertained at their next session by Miss Prudence Macomber.

With members enough for two tables of bridge, that will be the chosen amusement of the group which includes Miss Newlands, Miss Stair, Miss Macomber, Miss Maurie Hamill, Miss Kathleen Owens, Miss Helen Craemer, Miss
Janey Wilde and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

At the pleasant affair with which the series opened, the lively session at cards was followed by the refreshment hour during which the hostesses served ices, cake and coffee.

Little Miss Nelson Arrives In the City

Friends were today congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Nelson, 605 South Birch street, upon the arrival of a 7 1/2 pound baby daughter, on Sunday, October 7, 1923.

The father of the wee Miss Nelson is one of the proprietors of the Broadway Meat market at the Grand Central market and it is said that no one can see the meat for the smoke of countless cigars and cigarettes he passes out to all who call.

Altar Society

Mesdames Charles W. Longmire,
W. T. Schwabland, Scott Cunningham, Herman Vardy and H. L.
Warner will be joint hostesses at a card party and social to be presented tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles W. Longmire, 530 South
Ross street.

This is one of several social affairs planned by members of the Altar society of the recently formed St. Ann's parish and to which all members of the St. Ann's Catholic church and their friends are cordially invited.

BIG SERIES TEAMS
READY FOR ACTIONHuggins Changes Mind,
May Use Pennock In First Game With Giants

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—One more lap around the clock and the growled "let's go" of the umpires are all that remains on the program to get under way the third annual battle between the Giants and the Yankees for the world's baseball championship.

Everything else is ready. Fair weather is in promise, tickets are about gone, the teams are ready and the fans are waiting to go.

Miller Huggins, the little manager of the American league champions took unto himself a rather pleasant mood today. It seems that he found a decrease when he called the roll of crin-

Babe Ruth is ready and ready to go. Bob Meusel has sound dogs under him again and Mike McNally has separated from a stitch in the side. Wally Pipp is still rather doubtful, but Huggins thinks he will be able to start the first game.

"What if the Giants start laying them down in the front of him?" Huggins was asked about Pipp and his game ankle.

"We'll have to do something when they start doing that," he said.

Pep Young is still sniffling with a cold and John Scott has a kink in his arm but otherwise the National league champions are ready for the world.

Yankee business managers announced that the reserved seats were all gone but that 36,000 unreserved seats will be available tomorrow. The Giants have not sold all their reserved seats.

Betting continues brisk with the Yanks still prevailing a slight favorite over the Giants. John McGraw, manager of the world champions, thinks it is a good omen for his club.

"They can't beat us three in a row," Babe Ruth said today and the other members of the team feel the same way. Ruth must know that the dope players place on his shoulders the entire burden of the Yankees but he does not show it. If the theory is sound that "as Ruth goes, so goes the Yanks," the Babe is trying at least to show his teammates that he is going very large.

The Yanks feel sure that Arthur Nehf, the steady southpaw of the Giants, will pitch the first game and this hunch has caused Miller Huggins to take a second guess on his pitching selection.

Several days ago, "Hug" said he would start Jones—if the weather should be clear and bright—and that Joe Bush would get the call if the day should be cloudy. Huggins said today that he had changed his mind and would not be sure until tomorrow. It was thought that he might throw Herb Pennock, his southpaw ace, in the opener. The Giants never have "looked" at Pennock and they consider him more seriously than any of the other Yank pitchers.

Poly Begins Work
For Last Practice
Tussle of Season

ested and refreshed after its gruelling struggle of last Saturday with the U. S. C. freshmen, the Santa Ana high school football squad this afternoon began a week of intensive drill in preparation for the Pomona freshmen tilt here next Saturday.

The Pomona yearling brawl will be the final practice affair of the season for the local eleven. The crack Long Beach high school team will come here the following Saturday for the opening game of the Tri-County league.

With the exception of "Grecky" Williams, the Poly squad is in fairly good shape. Williams injured his side again in the freshmen fray but he will be in the lineup again Saturday.

COAST MIDDIE KING
TOPS NEW H. B. BILLBert Colima to Box Larry Friday Night; Frenchie
Opposes Harry Lee

HUNTINGTON BEACH CARD
Main event—Bert Colima vs. Larry, 158 pounds.
Semi-final—Ted Frenchie vs. Harry Lee, 165 pounds.
Preliminaries—Johnny Weber vs. George Sherman, 135 pounds.
Kid Walker vs. Johnny Nandez, 128 pounds.
Kid Moore vs. Benny Young, 145 pounds.
K. O. Montoya vs. Eddie Cleary, 122 pounds.
Benny Hill vs. Billy Blake, 110 pounds.

Bert Colima, premier middleweight of the Pacific coast, will head the all-star boxing card at the Huntington Beach arena Friday night, Kid Mexico, promoter, announced today.

The Whittier Mexican boy, conqueror of Henry Melcar, young George, Sailor Ritter, George and Billy Shade, Frank Farmer, Kid Mexico and every other 158-pounder up and down the coast, will face Sailor Larry, the clever San Diego colored boy who once battled him to a draw at Vernon.

Colima's Huntington Beach appearance will mark his first bout outside Los Angeles or Oakland in more than a year.

Bert's appearance alone is enough to pack them in at the city pavilion but Mexico has lined up a host of attractive preliminaries.

Harry Lee, the big Huntington Beach lifeguard, tackles Ted Frenchie in the semi-final bout. Frenchie stopped Lee several months ago and the life saver is out after revenge.

Johnny Weber, who holds draws with both Joe Benjamin and Phil Salvador, will scuffle with George Sherman in the feature spot. Sherman twice went to a draw with Johnny Adams.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 9.—Joy reigned at Yale when the faculty announced the ban, placed on sophomore athletes for last year's freshman riots, had been lifted.

HERE'S YANK MOUND STAFF

The Yankees will beat the Giants in the world series games because of the super excellence of their "million dollar pitching staff." That is what the experts are saying. John J. McGraw scoffs at the statement. "Million dollar pitching staff?" he repeats derisively. "We'll make those birds look like 30 cents."

Nevertheless the Yankees have a formidable staff, and if they are to win their pitchers will undoubtedly play a decisive part in the victory.

REGISTER'S BIG ELECTRIC SCOREBOARD
READY TO PLAY ANNUAL WORLD SERIES

Play-By-Play Returns From Yank-Giant Games Expected to Attract Huge Throng Here; City Council Votes To Close Third Street During Operation

The Register's big electric baseball scoreboard, sporting a fresh coat of paint and looking as big leaguer as ever, today was simply aching to flash to Santa Ana and Orange county fans the play-by-play returns from the first world series game tomorrow between the New York Yankees and Giants.

The warning bell, announcing that the teams are in position to open the title conflicts, will sound here about 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The big series opens at 2 p. m., New York time. The first fray will be decided in the Yankee Stadium.

The big board was thoroughly tested yesterday and worked, as in the past, like a charm. Everything is ready for the Santa Ana world series.

Fans will be interested in learning that the city council last night instructed the street department to close Third street between Sycamore street and Broadway, while the board is in operation.

Persons who plan to view the board in action from automobiles are advised to come early and park their vehicles. No cars will be permitted to pass along Third street during any of the games. To commuters an unrestricted view motorists should take down the tops of their machines.

Not only will tomorrow's battle be played on The Register's scoreboard but every other world series game. Remember these facts.

TIME—11 a. m.
PLACE—The Register building, Third and Sycamore streets.
PRICE—Absolutely free of charge. Come as The Register's guest and enjoy yourself. Take a tip and COME EARLY.

GRID GOSSIP

ANNAPOLIS—Invitation of the University of Arizona, to stop at Tucson on the way to Pasadena for the New Year's game may be accepted by the Navy football team. Prospects for the coming games were made considerably brighter with the report that Steve Barchet, star back, is ready to play.

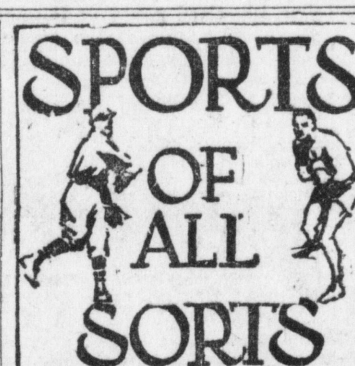

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—With Ollie Klee, veteran quarterback, out of the plan until the Iowa game, as a result of injuries received in Saturday's battle with Ohio Wesleyan, Coach Wilce of Ohio State was to start intensive practice today for this week-end's tilt with Colgate.

URBANA, Ill.—Placed in the hallowed circle of championship possibilities by their showing against Nebraska, the scrapping Illinois were told of the faults that showed Saturday and given light workout by Coach Zuppke yesterday.

BERKELEY—Jimmy Dixon, California back field man, is hailed as one of the comers in the Bear pit. In the game with Santa Clara last Saturday Dixon was the man around whom the greater part of the Bears' offensive work was done. Right now he is a substitute, with signs of early promotion.

DONZA, LOUIE HURL
LEATHER AT ORANGEJohnny Adams Meets Lewis
In Double Main Event;
6 Bouts on Card

TONIGHT'S CARD
Double Main Event—Ashton Donza, vs. Kid Louie, 118 pounds; Johnny Adams, vs. Jack Lewis, 128 pounds.
Semi-final—Paul Donza, vs. Joe Avery, 125 pounds.
Preliminaries—Tex Jones, vs. Tony Ross, 135 pounds.
Eddie Doolis, vs. Eddie Shurley, 124 pounds.
Curly Brown, vs. Young Moore, 145 pounds.

Ashton Donza, one of the fastest and cleverest bantamweights seen here this season, meets Kid Louie, Placentia "shelk," in the top half of the double main event at the Orange County Athletic club tonight. Donza's style of boxing insures a scrap any time he is opposed by a boy who will fight.

The fans never have seen Louie back up. Always a willing mixer with a kick in either paw he has, of late, been steadily climbing up the four-round game ladder. He is entitled to meet a boy of Donza's caliber.

Johnny Adams, San Bernardino junior lightweight, who always pleases the crowd by his efforts, will have a fast and sturdy opponent in Jack Lewis, a stable partner of the Donza brothers. Adams has bettered all the boys his weight on the coast. Lewis easily defeated Tony Montoya at the last Orana gathering.

Paul Donza, a brother of the flashy Austin, and just as aggressive, will have a real opponent in Joe Avery, the bronzed San Diego midweight who all but knocked Babe Orton's shoes off last week.

Eddie Doolis, the Santa Ana boy who carts around metal in his daytime, will get the test of his young career when he runs into Eddie Shurley, a far more experienced lad from San Bernardino.

Curly Brown and Young Moore open the show.

KILLEFER IN COAST CLUB
PLAN HERECoast League Manager to Bring Squad to City If Expenses Paid

The Seattle baseball club of the Pacific Coast league wants to locate its 1924 training camp in Santa Ana and will do so if arrangements are made whereby expenses will be guaranteed by the city, it was learned here today.

Wade "Radiant Red" Killefer, former manager of the Los Angeles Angels, but now skipper of the Seattle Indians, has addressed a letter to the Chamber of Commerce here, in which he puts the proposition directly up to the city.

The letter follows:
"Seattle, Wash.,
Sept. 30, 1923.

"The President,
Chamber of Commerce,
Santa Ana, Calif.

"Dear Sir:—The Seattle ball club will be going into training camp about March 1 to April 1. We would like to locate in some city in Southern California, Santa Ana, preferably, where our expenses will be guaranteed by the city.

"During the training season, we will have practically 35 men in camp. This will require 35 single beds and two men can be placed in a room. Suitable rates for eating accommodations should be made with some of your local residents. I also wish to state that baths are very essential in training quarters. You might be able to arrange with your local bath house for dressing quarters.

"Regarding the schedule of exhibition games, we will be able to book Saturday the 8th, Sunday the 9th, Saturday the 15th, Sunday the 16th, Saturday the 22nd, Sunday the 23rd, Saturday the 29th, Sunday the 30th, or any week day games after the 15th of March. This will give you at least eight games which should more than pay the expenses of training if your Chamber of Commerce and local clubs get behind it.

"You no doubt realize the tremendous amount of advertising your city will receive as we will have four newspapermen with us and the press dispatches will be going to all parts of the world twice daily. This is advertising that money cannot buy.

"Trusting that we may hear from you at your convenience, we are,
Very truly yours,
Seattle Baseball Club, Inc.
J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, responded as follows:

"Santa Ana, Calif.,
Oct. 5, 1923.

"Wade Killefer, Seattle Baseball Club, Seattle, Wash.

"Dear Sir:—We have your favor of September 30th and replying will state that the matter will be taken up at the first opportunity and report rendered you on the feasibility of our being able to arrange quarters for your club at Santa Ana.

"We appreciate the importance to the city of locating you here while training, and hope to be able to work it out.

Yours very truly,
Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce,
Jas. C. Metzgar, Sec'y.

Commenting today on the Seattle proposal, which would bring to this city some of the best baseball players in the country in addition to a great amount of advertising for Santa Ana, Metzgar said the club could not be brought here unless the city had a first-class baseball park and quarters.

The next move, he said, probably would be a discussion of the proposal at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

When Killefer brought his Los Angeles rookies to Irvine last spring for a game with the Bears, he was known to have expressed himself as impressed with Santa Ana and its surroundings as an ideal location for the establishment of a spring training camp.

Loring Ranger offers a hundred thousand dollars reward for the return of his daughter, Hope, who disappears after having lunch at the Plaza with her best friend, Lucia Thorne. Ranger is assisted in his search by his attorney, Eustace Hilly, who is a warm friend of the family.

Juarez Charley, adventurer, is a life-long friend of Ranger. Charlie comes to Ranger's office and informs him that a message has been sent to him regarding the missing Hope. He tells Loring that the mistress Frank Bryan, who is private secretary to Ranger.

Charlie says that he has been instructed through a message to tell Ranger to buy a hat for Hope and leave it in a specified place.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Not only in this city but all over the country," he declared. "Don't you read the newspapers? Look at the frequent robberies on a big scale, not money and securities alone, but jewels, silks, furs, merchandise in car-lots. How could plunder of that sort be disposed of unless there was an organized effort to manage it? That's the Combine, and it runs the whole show."

Ranger yielded to a growing conviction that there was more in this than mere imaginings or a fantastic embroidery on a few unrelated facts. Improbable as it seemed, there was at least some basis for Charlie's revelation—enough to go on.

"And you don't," his voice trembled, "that this inner group—the Combine—have my daughter?"

"I'm certain of it. It isn't often they pull anything on their own account. But after that message I received—Well, that settles it in my mind that this is one of the times they've done it."

CHAPTER VI
RANGER reached quickly for the telephone on his desk; but Charlie, anticipating his action, seized it first.

"No, you don't," he held the instrument tight in both hands. "I can see your mouth made up for 'Spring, 3100' as plain as if you were already calling it. What I've told you was for your own information, Loring, and not to be passed on to the police."

Ranger's success in life was largely due to his habit of quick decision. With scarcely a pause he reached out and gripped Charlie's hand in a clasp that told more than he could have expressed in an hour's speech.

"Handle it your own way, old man," he said heartily. "I'm with you. I'll back you with everything I've got."

"That will help—a little," said Charlie dryly.

"You said a while back," he remarked at last, "that it looked to you, Loring, like we were up against a tank wall. Well, we are, but there's one opening in that wall, and it's through the messages they'll send. Take this hat case and get it to get it and carry it to them. Then, if that person is trailed and we find out where it has been delivered, we'll be getting pretty warm to the people we're after."

The suggestion seemed to Ranger an elaborate solution of the whole problem, and he was eager to lose no time in putting it into execution; but Charlie checked his enthusiasm.

"No," he advised. "They'll be on the lookout. Let one or two messages go by, though, with just a bungling attempt to follow, and they'll begin to grow careless. That'll be our time to start trailing."

But how do you know there will be further messages?

"How do I know that Christmas is coming? You don't suppose they're sending for that bonnet merely to doll your daughter up, do you? As I told you, they'll send a photograph of her wearing it to prove to you that she's alive and well, and then they'll begin to apply the screws."

"Demand money, do you mean? But why haven't they done so before? It is a month today since Hope disappeared; yet, although I have thrown myself wide open to an offer, this communication through you is the first word I have received either directly or indirectly."

"Sure. They wanted to try the cops and all the rest of it, and learn just how tight they had you tied up. Now they think you're ready to do business."

His alert glance caught sight of the returning Bryan making his way toward them through the outer office, and, without altering his attitude, he changed his tone to one of querulous expostulation.

"If you'll quite your arguing and do as I say, we'll soon see if there's anything in it or not. A hat isn't going to set you back more than 25 or 35 dollars, and you'd hand that out any day to one of your high-priced 'dicks' and think nothing of it."

"Oh, come along, then," Ranger took his cue in a way that even Charlie had to approve. "But mind you—" he got up with the air of yielding against his judgment—"I haven't the slightest hope that anything will come of it."

"Ah, Bryan?" with an assumption of eagerness. "You saw the girl at headquarters? Did she—No? Only another disappointment, eh?"

"Sighing, he picked up his hat, and he and Charlie left the office. Outside, he dismissed his chauffeur and, driving the car himself, proceeded to a millinery shop on a cross-street in the Fifties.

When the odd pair entered this feminine Mecca of cunningly arranged wigs and carefully tinted walls, the strayed princess received them with the sugared languor of her smile exclusively to Ranger; the other person was, of course, impossible. But after she had brought out several hats, setting forth with soft fluency the desirability of each, Ranger failed to meet her expectations. He appeared more bewildered and uncertain every minute.

It was then that Juarez Charlie boldly projected himself into the situation.

"You've got the wrong steer altogether, little one," he said briskly. "These lids are all right for Fifth Avenue; but we want something that will stand out like an English flag in an Irish street—that's what we want. It's a style that no swell dame would be caught dead in it, or so into style that if it showed up along Forty-second street they'd have to call out the reserves. Do you get me, Fanchon?"

A more human smile broke through the veneer of the princess' superiority. He was speaking her language. Fresh, she'd say so. But he knew what he wanted, all right and was able to spill it so that she could understand.

The princess was genuinely intrigued. She sought, she found a bizarre shape, gave it a pinch in here, a flare out there, thus immeasurably heightening its absurdity. She pinned on towering spirals of ribbon, and trailed feathers, a shoulder-length over the

CHAPTER VII

THE May breeze caught up a sheet of newspaper and sent it scudding down the road. It headed straight for the ditch, hung a moment on the brink of a little pool of stagnant water, and then, with the sudden veering of a stronger wind, was lifted high in the air and carried over a lofty brick wall and privet hedge. It blew along the grass within the enclosure until it flapped against the trunk of a large beech-tree, and there it lay.

George Kelsey, strolling about the grounds, saw it, and his listless expression changed to one of avid interest, immediately suppressed. Before he took a step toward it, though, he looked about him, his fingers crossed, embracing the whole scene—the last house with its bright awnings and wide porches, the smooth green lawns where circular sprinklers were playing like miniature fountains, every clump of shrubbery.

Kelsey yawned and sauntered over toward a rustic bench under the beech-tree. Sheltered for a moment by its trunk, he stooped quickly, crumpled the stained, frayed paper in his hand, folded it roughly and laid it between the pages of his book. Then, seating himself on the rustic bench, he opened the volume and began to read.

One of the most rigidly observed rules of this exclusive private hospital for what are euphemistically called "nervous cases" was that no reading matter was permitted which might excite the patients or arouse discussion among them.

98 OUT OF EVERY 100 WOMEN BENEFITED

An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

Its reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world—leading all others.

SAYS ITALY'S GOAL CERTAIN TO BE WAR

With new political developments in Italy following the accession of Facismo and Mussolini, "Italian thinking seems to have settled upon the fact that Italy is as a nation proletarian, a sort of under dog already and fast-becoming settled in that unenviable position due to the impotence of her government," said A. B. Gardner, high school instructor of history, in a talk before the Monday club at the residence of E. M. Nealley, Tustin, last night.

Gardner gave a resume of Italian history for 2000 years, showing the influence of and the present day tendency of the long historic background through which Italy as a people and nation has developed. The tendency toward youthful vigor and bumptiousness, Gardner stated, was due to the young people within the organization, and the turning of former class struggle to the support of nationalism and Italy's national progress. "There is no doubt that she means to make the Mediterranean an Italian sea. The regrettable killing of Italian officers furnished a peg on which Italy hangs a proclamation to the world that she is out for her rightful place in the whole Mediterranean. There is in all this a challenge to both England and France, which neither of them is in a position to accept, though England, through Lord Cecil at Geneva, had dealt a courageous stroke. It is hard to see in Italy's program any path that will lead to any goal but war."

DIVA TO SING IN ANAHEIM 'OFF' WEDDED LIFE

Husbands are the least of her worries, Mme. Marguerite Matzenauer, world-famous contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, was quoted recently as saying, Mme. Matzenauer is to appear in concert at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow at the Anaheim high school auditorium, in the first number of a series presented this season by the Inter-Club Musical association of that city.

Madame Matzenauer, who recently arrived in Los Angeles, declared that her attentions would be confined solely to "my career and my baby," according to word received here from the metropolis. She stated that there absolutely would be no more husbands for her.

"Matrimony? Never again. To sing and to take care of my little girl—isn't that enough for one woman?" she said, laughingly, when questioned.

The Philharmonic orchestra of Los Angeles, which is nationally known, will appear for the second of the series of concerts at Anaheim on November 19, according to Romaine Berger, president of the musical association. Some time during March, he said, Reinold Werrenrath, one of the foremost baritones in America, will give one of his performances. Later in the spring Olga Samoroff, one of the great masters of the piano, will give a recital.

"We have been able to line up a truly imposing array of talent," Berger stated. "Through the co-operation of 100 representative citizens of Anaheim we were able to guarantee the financial success of the concerts. Season ticket rates, we consider, are priced nominally. Reserved seats may be secured at the high school auditorium before the concerts."

According to information received at the hospital, Corey was driving home last night after being relieved from his work at midnight. His car crashed into a trailer belonging to a Long Beach transfer company. The authorities were told the truck had been left with all wheels on the pavement and without a light.

Corey resided with his wife and three young children at First and Sullivan streets, Santa Ana.

SCHOOL MINORS REGISTRATION FAILS AVERS CRANSTON

System to Be Successful Needs Penalty Proviso, Says Superintendent

CENSUS NEED TOLD

Knowledge of Number of Pupils in Calif. Is Held Essential

Registration of minors in Santa Ana schools, prescribed during school days of last week, was a dismal failure according to an announcement made today by A. J. Cranston, city school superintendent.

"A penalty must be added to the state school law calling for registration of minor children each year if the registration is to be a success. That is my opinion," Cranston said.

"Very few parents, comparatively speaking, called at the school buildings where blanks were provided for registration. Their time has been wasted and the registration of the children counts for nothing, it represents such a small proportion of the actual Santa Ana children's census.

Guided Wanted
"The purpose of the law was to provide a guide for the school department. A knowledge of the number of children in California and in the various districts of California, within or approaching school age seems essential to proper conduct of the department.

"There is a constant change in centers of school population in California, more produced probably in Southern California than any other place. The remarkable growth of Santa Ana schools is evidence of the fact.

"We were amazed at the enrollment of children here this year. The total showed a 20 per cent increase over last year. A tremendous increase, which threatens to crowd our school buildings regardless of the big building program now about complete.

Legislature Inactive
"If there were teeth in the registration law we would have had a better preview of conditions that were to be in the schools here this year. But as it is now we are dependent upon the parents taking an active interest in making the registration a successful practical affair each year.

"We brought the matter before the last legislature without success. My colleagues feel the weakness of the law in their districts

Would Have Display Windows of East Advertise Santa Ana

Santa Ana's industrial advantages are to be portrayed "to the rest of the world" through another advertising medium beside the newspaper—that of the store display window.

This had been definitely established today, as the Greater Santa Ana club, at a luncheon meeting held here yesterday, moved to have proper show window paraphernalia arranged, showing Santa Ana's possibilities for industrial expansion, that it may be placed in the various larger cities of the United States, including New York.

Los Angeles shoppers will be the first to be attracted by Santa Ana's novel publicity, through the country of one of the former city's newspapers. In addition, under the plan, they will receive folders describing Santa Ana at its best.

Later the display would be taken to San Francisco, there to stay ten days or two weeks, thence to Chicago and a number of Middle Western cities, and, finally, to New York.

R. L. Crawford was appointed chairman of the committee to co-operate with Secretary J. C. Metzgar of the Chamber of Commerce in publishing the folder. Others on the committee are J. P. Baumgartner and J. A. George.

The club also decided to use a full-page "Industrial Santa Ana" advertisement in a Long Beach newspaper Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Tomblin is survived by her daughter and her son, H. J. Tomblin, of Oakland. She was active in religious work in San Francisco and Santa Ana until a few years ago, when she became disabled. Her work was mostly in the Sunday school classes of the First Presbyterian church. ## DOOM QUACKERY IN DOCTORING OF TREES

Horticultural Chiefs of Four Counties Adopt New System

When your trees get sick, call the doctor.

No, not the M. D. Call the T. D. That's the advice of County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock, who with three other horticultural commissioners in southern counties, is paving the way for a new kind of shingle on professional row.

The examination for "tree doctors" announced for October 15 at Pomona marks the move by the four horticultural commissioners of Orange, Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, to require the credentials of all those who practice treating trees for various diseases.

To Protect Growers.
The idea is to protect fruit growers from "quacks," many of whom are said to be operating through the orange belt, doing more damage than good, the commissioners declare.

The Pomona examinations were arranged by Commissioner Brock, Commissioner H. J. Ryan, of Los Angeles county, Commissioner John P. Coy, of San Bernardino county, and Commissioner A. E. Bottel of Riverside county.

To Issue Licenses.
Tree doctors who succeed in passing the tests of the horticultural commissioners will be issued licenses, showing them to be qualified for properly treating tree diseases.

Fruit growers are advised to employ no one who is without such a license.

A considerable number of applicants for licenses have already signified their intention to take the examinations, it was announced today.

The examinations cover an investigation of the applicant's experience, his references and his methods of treating tree diseases.

DENY WOMEN'S LIE DETECTOR RANKS MEN'S

Says Feminine Guess Often As Wrong As Right When 'Scenting' Falsehood

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Do Santa Ana women have a keener perception of untruthfulness than men—a sixth sense that a French scientist declared women are endowed with and that enables a wife to detect her husband's lies?

"Not at all," declared Bob Gram, prominent Elk and business man here.

Declaring that he had been too closely associated with happily—and otherwise—married couples to have had many delusions concerning them, Gram spoke with authority, as follows:

"It isn't that women are better able to discern when they are being told an untruth than men are; it is merely a mental and moral distinction between the feminine and the masculine nature. Women act on the theory that all men are dishonest until they are proved honest, while men believe that everyone is honest until proved dishonest."

"So, if a woman seems to detect untruthfulness when it does exist, she doesn't take into account the numberless times she thinks she detects it where it doesn't exist."

FAVORS "ROUNDED" LIFE AS BEST FOR COLLEGE GIRL.
When Mrs. Charles Toll, president of the Los Angeles district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, voiced views regarding the well-rounded life of the American college girl, at a special women's day assembly at the University of Southern California, she touched a responsive chord in the heart of a prominent local clubwoman, who is also a mother, Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, president of the Ebell society of Santa Ana valley.

"When Mrs. Toll declared that the girl who was merely a 'grind' at college was losing much of the better side of college life, I agreed with her thoroughly," declared Mrs. Crookshank. "Of course I should want my own daughters to make excellent grades—but not at the expense of losing all contacts with other phases of school life."

"For it is in the numerous activities of the campus—athletic, social and cultural—that contacts are established which should affect the entire after life of a girl even more than the result of her hours of study. It is the memory of those same contacts which, in after years, should bring to her the dearest memories of her school days."

SAYS MEN WILL WEAR THEIR KNICKERS TO WORK.
(Comfort is the keynote of styles for men," today declared Edward J. Hummel, director of physical education at Santa Ana junior college and history professor at the high school.

Hummel was discussing the attitude of men's tailors who regret men are more conservative in styles than women and are loth to change the general design of clothing.

"In history we can trace the gradual change of styles for men, of course," declared Hummel. "The Roman toga once was the accepted standard of dress for men."

"Undoubtedly the great part that sports play in our national life has much to do with the present-day styles for men. Who could play eighteen holes of golf in peg-top trousers and padded shoulders? I believe that the near future will see business men adopting knickers for

3 CLASSES IN ENGLISH OPEN TO MEXICANS

Three classes in English for Mexicans are to begin operations at the junior high school building on North Main street this evening, under the direction of Mrs. Lenore Panunzio.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Panunzio, who is in charge of Americanization work for the city schools, pointed out that one class will be for foreigners who understand no English. Another class will be for those who have some understanding of English, and the third class for those who have had some instruction in school or elsewhere and understand English quite well.

"With the opening of these classes," said Mrs. Panunzio, "we are reminded again that the Americanization work which is really successful is that in which there is exhibited a genuine spirit of friendliness not only between the immediate teachers in charge of the foreign-born student in the class room, but by the community in general. The teacher in the classroom, no matter how successful and fine-spirited she may be, is helpless unless she has back of her the genuine and friendly sympathy and co-operation of the entire community."

"If every American-born man, woman and child in Santa Ana would show genuine interest in one foreign-born person with whom he comes in contact, the fruit-picker, the tailor, the housemaid, the customer in the store, in the post office, the employment office, the street car or stage—and thus demonstrate by his own life the true ideals of America while making an effort to bring the foreigner into contact with the public school and the other agencies provided for his enlightenment, the problem of Americanization would be quickly solved."

WIFE UNKISSED FOUR YEARS, IS PLAINT

For four years Mary Graves was a stranger to the conjugal kiss.

There was no secular reward for her faithful wifely duties, even though she did have a husband, and had to endure a mother-in-law.

Her husband, who intimated in divorce proceedings on file in superior court here today, was a sort of human icicle so far as his wife was concerned.

And the mother-in-law! Such a mother-in-law, intimated the wife's complaint.

"She was domineering and treated me like a servant," to quote from the divorce papers on file. "My husband allowed her to come into our home and manage it, while I was forced to endure humiliating treatment."

That her husband was cold and had no caresses for his wife, that he had refused to kiss her for the last four years, and that, on last July 27, he had left their home and his tire business in Huntington Beach, formed part of Mrs. Graves' charges. She had not seen her husband since that date, she stated.

The Graves were married in Utica, New York, November 26, 1905. Mrs. Graves, who is represented by Attorney James L. Hansen, of Huntington Beach, asks custody of her two daughters and $50 a month alimony.

When the potato was first introduced into Scotland it met with much opposition. Sermons were preached against it, in which it was declared that, as the potato was not mentioned in the Bible, it must be unfit for Christians to eat. It was even described by one divine as being the forbidden fruit which had caused the fall of Adam.

Is Regular Fellow
We found Sam to be a regular fellow, which accounts for his popularity. He is modest in speaking of himself, loud in his praise of others. He enjoys a good story or any humorous incident and best of all Sam can appreciate a joke on himself. Jernigan is a Mason, a member of the York Rite and a Shriner, and is also a member of Santa Ana lodge No. 734 B. P. O. E. His favorite recreation is fishing, but it takes Sam, himself, to tell the big ones.

As we left, Sam gave a huge sigh. "I'm a Republican," he roared, waving a bottle of confiscated jack-ass brandy to impress this point on our mind.

PROPOSED ROAD FROM S. A. TO LONG BEACH GETS NEW IMPETUS

Garden Grove Boosters In Plans to Meet With City
Solons Here Shortly

TRAFFIC VALUE CITED

$325,000 Project Would Be Financed By Assessment Dist. With Bonds

Members of the Garden Grove road improvement committee within the next few weeks will hold a meeting with representatives of the Santa Ana city council and S. H. Finley, county supervisor, relative to the construction of the proposed direct highway from North Main street, Santa Ana, to Long Beach, it became known here today.

At the same time, H. A. Lake of Garden Grove, one of those keenly interested in the success of the undertaking, announced additional details concerning the proposed improvement, which boosters maintain not only will mean increased development for every mile of the road, but also would result in the saving of fully an hour's time for motorists on a round-trip drive to San Pedro.

Plan 18-Foot Paving
The entire road, Lake estimated, would cost approximately $275,000, exclusive of a $50,000 bridge which would span the Santa Ana river.

Plans for the improvement call for a highway eight inches thick, and eighteen feet wide with two-foot shoulders on each side.

Money for the construction of the project would be raised by the creation of an assessment district, approximately thirteen miles long, where there is at present no pavement. This district, Lake said, would be one mile wide at each end and would narrow down to a half-mile through the thickly settled Garden Grove district where there are roads half mile distant on each side.

Sees Main Artery
"This road," Lake declared, "would become one of the main arteries of Southern California and, I believe, would make Santa Ana one hour closer to San Pedro for a round trip with a loaded truck. It would also shorten the time between Santa Ana and Los Angeles as it would be a wide, straight road passing through no large towns."

"It figure such a highway would handle virtually all the truck traffic from Los Angeles to Santa Ana and other Orange county points, in addition to much of the automobile tourist traffic."

"About 28 per cent of the entire proposed road falls on the Bixby and Hellman interests. After we had talked with Bixby, to whom the road improvement cost would just as we feel it here in Santa Ana."

SEES NEW ROOMS JAMMED SOON AS OPENED

Fifteen rooms will be added to Santa Ana elementary school accommodations within fifteen to thirty days and will be filled to capacity with students before Christmas, according to an opinion voiced today by J. A. Cranstoun, city school superintendent.

"Twelve rooms being added to Santa Ana grammar schools will be completed," he said. "The other three rooms will be occupied before Christmas or I fail to read school attendance gains correct."

"Opening of the additional classrooms at the McKinley, Franklin, Spurgeon and Lowell grammar schools will eliminate half-day sessions from the school program here."

"This desirable date will arrive within the next fifteen to thirty days. Frederick Eley, the architect, reported that all but the McKinley were almost completed now."

"We need the extra space. Principals and teachers, in fact, had been at a grave disadvantage in some instances. Libraries and other general rooms have been utilized for classrooms."

"The extra classrooms are being opened none too soon. The Roosevelt grammar is filled to capacity. The Lincoln is crowded. The Jefferson is full."

Still the children roll in. The total enrollment this year shows an increase of 20 per cent over last year, yet last year was a record-breaking year."

"The normal increase as figured for other cities in school attendance is not within a third of Santa Ana's increase."

Undertaker's Wife Sues Over Too Much Gloom

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9.—There is enough gloom connected with being the wife of an undertaker, let alone being forced to do mortuary work, in the opinion of Mrs. Adella E. Daggett, who is suing Morris S. Daggett, local undertaker, for divorce. Mrs. Daggett alleges she was compelled to make long trips after bodies, much to her displeasure, and forced to work in the mortuary chapel.

HOLDS YOUNG "JAZZ ADDICTS" RESPOND TO FINE MUSIC.

"The movement to bring good music to the students of graded and high schools of New York City by the New York Philharmonic society, which is being lauded by the eastern press, was anticipated several years ago by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Society," declared Miss Leonora Tompkins, leader of the Ebell society's music section here.

Miss Tompkins cited the action taken by the board of directors of the New York Philharmonic in lending musicians from the society as teachers and lecturers and in giving programs before school children in an effort to curb jazz music.

"Were those steps to be taken in the West, it would necessarily be through the co-operation of the music department of each school," Miss Tompkins declared.

"Work along similar lines was instituted by the Los Angeles Philharmonic in the series of pupils' concerts it inaugurated a year or so ago. Four concerts were offered during the season at the cost of 50 cents; thus each concert cost the school children but 12½ cents apiece."

"In every case the auditorium was packed. The young people's enthusiasm proved they were as susceptible to 'good' music as to the popular jazz."

"We are all responsive to jazz rhythm at times; little wonder that young people who hear it constantly are jazz addicts. Allow them to hear the really fine music and their trained senses will respond to it."

EXTENSION OF BEACH PIER DISCUSSED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 9.

Sand is the main element found in the borings taken off the end of the pier here recently by City Engineer L. F. Gates.

The borings were taken to a depth of twenty feet into the ocean bed. One hundred feet from the end of the pier it was shown that ten feet of hard packed sand, and ten feet of mixed sand and clay composed the two strata of soil under the water.

As the borings proceeded it was shown that the composition of sand proceeded to get deeper as the borings were taken farther out. Fifteen hundred feet from the end of the pier twenty-two feet of sand was found to be the composition of the ocean bottom.

The matter of the extension of the pier was given careful consideration by the trustees, and is to be held over.

At a distance of 1000 feet twenty-seven feet of water is secured. It is pointed out that by going out five hundred feet further at a cost of several thousand dollars a depth of twenty-eight feet may be secured.

A distance of 3300 feet from the end of the present pier is necessary to get the pier into 40 foot water. The cost of the present pier is claimed to have been about $70,000. At the present increase in building costs it is doubtful if the pier could now be built at twice this amount, trustees said.

It was pointed out that by extending the pier a distance of 600 feet the fishing would be bettered and the pier would be extended over the ground swells which are so detrimental to good fishing.

This extension would not call for an expenditure of an excess amount of money and would place the pier in twenty-five feet of water. To secure an additional foot on water it would be necessary to extend the pier 500 feet further.

Indications here were that unless the property owners of the city wished otherwise the council would not do much more with the matter.

The elevator is expected to be ready in four months and will handle part of this fall's crop.

U. S. Navy Aid In Japan Disaster Gets Praise

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—American bluejackets proved their versatility in the Japanese earthquake zone by performing as fire fighters, carpenters, safecrackers and relief work in addition to their regular duties. Details of the activities of the American navy, first to arrive in the stricken area, are contained in a report received by Secretary Denby from the representative of army relief in Japan. Here is what the bluejackets did:

Cleaned up American consulate, in addition to rescue work among survivors, and established it anew.

Searched for and buried American dead.

Cracked safes, securing valuables and securities for American and foreign firms.

Furnished water for all American ships touching in Yokohama and for Americans and army hospital ashore.

Fought fire on one American ship.

Succored two other ships broken down and repaired machinery so they were able to proceed.

Announce Memorial Service for Late Dean

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—Memorial services for the late E. J. Wickson, dean-emeritus of the University of California college of agriculture, will be held Sunday, October 14, at 2:30 p. m. in the agriculture hall of the university. Dean Wickson died July 16, 1923.

Coming to California in 1875 and associated with the college of agriculture since 1879, Professor Wickson became a leader in the building of this state. California was a mining camp when he came and fruits and flowers were negligible. Now its chief industry is agriculture and approximately half the agricultural wealth comes from orchards and vineyards.

President W. W. Campbell will preside at the memorial service. Professor M. E. Jaffa, Dr. H. J. Webber and Dr. T. F. Hunt of the college of agriculture, will speak on the relation of Professor Wickson to the faculty, to horticulture and to the state. Ralph P. Merritt and Frank T. Swett will speak of him as a teacher and as an agricultural editor. Donald Hunter will unveil the portrait presented to the university by the students of the Agriculture club of the college of agriculture.

VIBRATION IN LIEU OF FOOD, PREDICTED

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Electrical vibrations will compose the menu card of the future, Dr. Francis A. Cave of Boston, predicted at a convention of the Middle States Society of Medicine.

Quoting a British physicist, Dr. Cave said there would come a time when humans would sit down at the dinner table, attach to their bodies apparatus connected with electric wires, and absorb electrical vibrations instead of food. In two years, he said, the number of physicians using the electronic method of Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco had increased from 300 to 3000.

By the electronic method, its proponents assert, the diagnosis and treatment of disease is made comparable to radio tuning, with a characteristic vibration for each disease. By "tuning in" the physician can interpret the vibrations emanating from drops of blood, Dr. O. M. Hayward, of Chattanooga, asserted, and by a system of dials, with each disease given an arbitrary number, diagnosis could be reduced to a mechanical problem.

Dr. J. Sullivan of Kenosha, Wis., said vibration emanating from a drop of blood could be amplified so that the physician could ascertain what disease was present.

SPORT FLASHES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 9.—A large crowd gathered at the Union Station today to welcome the Baltimore Orioles, champions of the International Baseball League, who arrived here for a "little world series" with the Kansas City Blues, winners of the American Association pennant.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9.—After the crowd had jeered and complained that they were looking at a "stall" the 12 round no decision fight here last night between Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion outside of New York and Jimmy Jones, champion in New York, was stopped before the tenth round and declared "no contest."

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—The scheduled 15 round bout between Bob Martin, former champion of the A. E. F. and Martin Burke, New Orleans heavyweight, was stopped in the sixth round last night because of Martin's extremely poor physical condition. Martin, suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident, appeared little more than an invalid in the ring.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes
Most Women Can HaveSays Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known
Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

MYSTERY ISLE
EXPEDITION

BY MAURICE HENLE.
NEA Service Writer CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 9.—"Bou-vett!"

Mention that word to a hardened mariner. Watch the lids of his eyes tighten. Watch him grow a shade whiter.

For "Bouvett," mystery island of the mysterious South Atlantic ocean, has baffled, so far as known, all attempts at exploration, all efforts of civilized white men to plumb its secrets.

On or about the coming Oct. 15, sixteen adventurous souls will point the nose of a three-masted schooner toward Bouvett, and the myriad of other romantic nooks in the South Atlantic and Indian oceans, about which folks know so little.

These men, commanded by George Finlay Simmons, will leave New London, Conn., in the interests of science. Sailing under the colors of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, they will be gone two long years.

They will visit many places, gather many natural specimens, see strange sights—but nothing so intriguing the imagination as their contemplated and determined exploration of Bouvett, mystery island.

About two years ago Paul Marshall Rea conceived the idea of a greater museum for this city. His ideas expanded so rapidly, he now is ready to undertake a $100,000 expedition in a vessel that costs $35,000, merely to insure something worthwhile for the Ohio metropolis.

A new building will be finished by the time the expedition returns in two years. And Cleveland promises to have an institution rivaling its famous "competitor"—the Museum of Natural History of New York City.

What the sixteen men will find on Bouvett they do not even know to guess. Whether they will find it is in itself a question. When others approached it, it seemed to vanish in vapor. And yet, despite the repeated failure of mariners to land on Bouvett, seafaring men are positive such a place exists.

It is about a thousand miles southwest of Cape of Good Hope. The legend goes that the Frenchman, for whom the island is named, and two others are the only ones ever to locate it. And it is not certain they were able to land, for no record of what they found ever came back to the world.

It is the question mark of the seas, fully as mysterious as "Island X," the brain-child of a novelist in a recent effort.

Many other islands will be visited, probably 50 in all—Fernandora, Trinidad, the Sandwich group, Kerbulen and many more.

In all probably 30,000 miles will be traveled. That could only be a guess, though, Commander Simmons explains. The winter season will be spent in Africa, with Cape Town as the base of operations.

In two years the expedition will return. And the members aboard, many scientists from various sections of the country included, firmly believe they will have added a new chapter to science of America.

U. C. SENIOR TAKEN
AS LOOTER AT FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Richard Timothy Bohan, senior student at the University of California, was given to the custody of Berkeley police by the university authorities, following a confession that he had obtained an extensive wardrobe by looting in the burned area since the recent fire and posing as a refugee at relief stations.

Mrs. T. S. McCleaze, 2844 Garber street, Berkeley, Bohan's landlady, notified J. H. Hildebrand, dean of men, of the red accumulation of clothing in Bohan's room since the fire. She also said that expressmen had made frequent calls for large bundles.

A search of Bohan's room disclosed three overcoats, a raincoat, five suits, eight waistcoats, four pairs of trousers, seventeen shirts, a sterling silver toilet set and miscellaneous men's furnishings, much of which has been identified by Berkeley residents in the fire zone.

According to Red Cross officials, Bohan secured an order from them, through misrepresentation, for a suit of clothes, an overcoat and glasses, which was honored by Berkeley merchants. He also applied for a loan of $200, they say.

Furore Over Glands
Inspires 'Black Oxen'

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—Declaring that among the 4000 young women gathered in Wheeler hall on the University of California campus, 1000 were potential authors, Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, California novelist, talked yesterday on how she came to write "Black Oxen," her latest book, and recently banned from the Rochester, N. Y., public library as unfit for youthful minds.

Mrs. Atherton declared that all her life she had suffered from mad enthusiasms and usually wrote a book about something she was particularly interested in. A year ago it was gland operations, which were creating a furore, and so she used it as a theme for "Black Oxen."

When asked why "Black Oxen" was banned from the library, Mrs. Atherton said: "Probably the church people feel it is unorthodox to regain one's youth."

The great cathedral at Cologne is represented on a new stamp issued for Germany and having a value of 10,000 marks. Two of these stamps are required for domestic postage and six for foreign postage.

FOREST FIRE SCENES SEEN IN "JACQUELINE."

Director Del Henderson who pictured James Oliver Curwood's greatest story, "Jacqueline," or "Blazing Barriers," now showing at the Yost, got many a thrill in the making of the big forest fire scene which plays so important a part in the production.

It is interesting to note that these scenes were "shot" just at a time when forest fires in the Maine woods were threatening life and property to an alarming extent; so much so, in fact, that the governor of the state closed the hunting season in order to prevent even more serious catastrophes.

Director Henderson and his company were busily engaged at this particular time in the making of several important scenes for "Jacqueline" and were thus enabled to secure some magnificent effects which would have been extremely difficult and hazardous for the hand of man to attempt to duplicate.

In a small hermetically sealed glass bottle a live eel has survived a voyage of about 3500 miles from New York to Copenhagen. The bottle was corked and waxed and enclosed in a tin cylinder such as is commonly used for sending natural history specimens by post. The eel thus made its voyage in darkness and without any renewal of air.

"COMMON LAW" STAR
IN LUCKY DEBUT.

Corinne Griffith, who is to be seen at the West End theater in a screen adaptation of "The Common Law" is one screen star who did not have to try very hard to get into motion pictures. In fact, the opportunity was offered to her on a silver platter. It happened while she was attending a movie ball in New Orleans at which the winner of the beauty contest was to be given a chance in the silent drama.

Corinne did not enter this contest, but a director who was one of the judges, saw her dancing around, and not only presented her with the cup but also gave her a part in his next picture. She made good the first crack out of the box and was rapidly advanced, until within six months she was starred in support of this charming star in "The Common Law" are Conway Tearle and Elliott Dexter, and the cast includes Phyllis Haver, Harry Myers, Miss du Pont, Bryant Washburn, Doris May, Hobart Bosworth, Dagmar Godowsky, Lilian Lawrence and Wally Van.

"THE WHITE ROSE."

Although his new picture, "The White Rose," is a modern story, D. W. Griffith has it continually refer to the past and in making his "exteriors" has particularly chosen backgrounds that represent the South of some years gone by. With his players in modern garb appearing against "atmosphere" of previous days, Griffith gains an extraordinary artistic effect.

He does not stop at this. Giving his imagination some free rein, he stages a "costume" ball for one of his big scenes. It has direct bearing on the plot. The ball is attended by the very aristocracy of the South of the present day, but a youth less fortunate than the others in wealth and station takes advantage of the fact that the affair is a "masked" one. He manages to get in, and dances with the girl he adores before being forced to leave.

In the production will be seen in leading roles such well-known players as Mae Marsh, Carol Dempster, Ivor Novello, Neil Hamilton, Lucille La Verne, Porter Strong and others.

BIG LIGHTHOUSE WOULD HONOR COLUMBUS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 9.—The plan to erect a great lighthouse to flash the word "Colon" far over tropical seas and thereby aid the mariner and interest the voyager begins to assume a tangible form. At the recent Pan American conference held here the representatives of the American republics placed the seal of approval on the proposal thus to honor the memory of Christopher Columbus, as well as to erect another needed beacon for serving the world of shipping.

The plans call for the erection of this great lighthouse, which will be one of the most powerful of the world, at Santo Domingo, the capital and chief seaport of the Dominican republic. As will be recalled Columbus visited the island which now forms the two nations of Haiti and the Dominican republic on his first voyage of discovery, calling it Hispaniola. The event occurred on December 6, 1492, or nearly two months after the great navigator landed at San Salvador, a few hundred miles north of Hispaniola.

In succeeding years, and with many other explorers in the field, a settlement sprang up, known as Santo Domingo; and for a hundred years and more the place formed a rendezvous for explorers and conquerors.

Within a short time officials of the Dominican republic will appoint a committee of leading men of affairs who will formulate definite plans to be pursued in raising funds for the new structure. The Dominican committee will be expected to appoint sub-committees in each of the American republics, and all of these will endeavor to raise funds by popular subscriptions. Just what amount will be needed is not known, as architectural design, methods of construction, details, etc., have not yet been determined.

The visit to the United States of the Duke of Veragua, the last surviving descendant of the great Columbus who owns a priceless collection of manuscripts and other heirlooms descending from his illustrious ancestor, will offer an opportunity for the committee in this country to lay before the duke the advantages of assembling the souvenirs of Columbus' life in a museum in Santo Domingo city, where his remains lie today.

FIND GOOD ROAD MOVEMENT IS IN INCREASE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Interest in the good roads movement throughout the country is increasing rather than diminishing it is shown by results of a census on bond issues, contemplated and authorized for highway construction, just completed by the asphalt association of this city.

The figures show that a total of $751,225,384 in bond issues, exclusive of federal aid, was reported under contemplation in the states, counties, townships and road districts of the country from August 1, 1922, to August 1, 1923, and that the sum of $617,029,537 was actually authorized to be expended.

The amount reported as contemplated exceeded the $748,563,000 contemplated during the year previous by $32,675,384 and the sum authorized exceeded that of the year before by $75,304,754. The bond issues authorized from August 1, 1921 to August 1, 1922, amounted to $541,724,780.

Says Spouse In Threat Took $16,000 from Her

SAN JOSE, Oct. 9.—A death threat at a mountain resort hotel at Basle, Switzerland, last May, had its aftermath in the local superior court here when Kate Schmerber filed suit for divorce from her husband, Leo Schmerber, charging that she was forced to give him all the money she possessed, $16,000, when he demanded it on pain of death at the Switzerland hotel.

She fled from him, her complaint recited, and finally returned to her home here.

She carried this sum of money with her on the tour, she avers, for her own protection, since her husband was drunk most of the time, it was alleged.

She asks the court to dissolve the bonds of matrimony and adjudge $14,000 on deposit at a local bank, proceeds from the sale of a ranch, her separate property. The ranch, located on the Mt. Hamilton road, was disposed of just before the couple started abroad. Mrs. Schmerber said she has neither seen nor heard from her husband since the occurrence at the Switzerland hotel.

GRAIN BEING HARVESTED. CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 9.—With satisfactory weather conditions prevailing good progress has been made with the harvest and the reports from all districts in Southern Alberta are good. From 75 per cent to 90 per cent of all grains are cut and probably 10 per cent of the threshing done. Some districts are experiencing labor shortage, mostly from lack of experienced men. The estimated average of twenty-four bushels to the acre of wheat over Southern Alberta will be realized.

Wife Threw Stove Pan At Him, Mate Claims

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Answering the cross-complaint filed by Mrs. Lilly Aldrich Fogarty to Dr. Edward Henriksen Fogarty's suit to obtain an annulment of his marriage upon the ground that his wife had deceived him as to her age, Dr. Fogarty, head of the California X-ray laboratories, made additional charges of physical cruelty through his attorney, P. H. Johnson.

In 1920, Dr. Fogarty alleges, his wife hit him in the face with a stove pan so violently that he was forced to wear bandages for a week. In the same year, it is charged, she bit his finger, causing an abscess.

Between November, 1920, and June, 1923, it is charged that Mrs. Fogarty frequently displayed a vicious temper.

DRY WAVE FOR HOLIDAYS NOW IS FORECAST

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 9.—The Pacific coast is due for a very dry holiday season this year (speaking in terms of the weather), according to S. V. Rehart of Lakeview, Ore., world champion long-distance weather forecaster.

Until the Christmas holidays have passed the precipitation will be negligible. During the following two months rain will fall almost unceasingly, concluding with a heavy downpour toward the end of February. This will be the cause of floods at that time, but at the end of the season the rain fall will be about normal.

Weather Reviewed
Such is the forecast made for the 1923-1924 season, being his eighteenth annual prognostication. Of his predictions only two have proven to be incorrect.

Rehart, unlike professional forecasters, bases his predictions on a six months' cycle, rather than on scientific observations.

In his present forecast he reviews the weather for six months past, which would tend to prove his theory. He points to the warm weather of March and to its resultant storm six months later, in September.

Predictions Given

The cold weather during the spring and early summer months correspondingly indicates warm weather during the fall and early winter months, and the heat of the late summer months likewise indicates heavy rains and cold weather in the late winter.

His prediction this year is as follows:
"The early rains of September might have been safely predicted, based upon the fact that the Pacific Coast experienced excessively warm weather during the month of March, the storms taking place six months thereafter."

"The cold weather during the spring and early summer months, with only a few hot days of short intervals, indicates that during the fall and early winter months we may not expect much precipitation before the holidays or later."

Rainfall Normal
"The hot weather or heated spell of the summer from the middle of July to the middle of September indicates that the bulk of the winter's precipitation will take place late in the season, in a period of about two months. The heaviest storms occurring toward the latter end of such period, probably causing flood conditions. The precipitation for the season should be about normal."

U. S. PORK HAS MORE DEMAND IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A wider market for United States meats, particularly pork, has been made available by the efforts of the United States department of agriculture, and the state department, the most recent evidence of it being the opening of The Netherlands to shipments of fresh pork. This new market, with the English market, which was opened to the same products about eighteen months ago, now gives hog raisers a considerable additional outlet at a time when production is at a high point.

The government of The Netherlands requires that fresh pork shipped to that country shall be handled under certain specified conditions which can now be met as a result of modifications agreed upon after suggestions were made by the department of agriculture. It is expected that this new arrangement will result in a great deal of new business, just as resulted from arrangements made with England which removed any doubts regarding the wholesomeness of American fresh pork. Up to eighteen months ago there had been no fresh pork trade between this country and England, but during the last fiscal year, ending June 30, this trade amounted to practically 20,000,000 pounds, the equivalent of more than 100,000 mature hogs. This problem had been approached without success for many years, but seems to have been settled in a manner which should prove very satisfactory to the entire meat industry. Efforts are still being made to open the way for these same products into France, which still keeps up the bars against their importation.

GUNS FOR CHINA SEIZED ON SHIP BY AGENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Six trunks of arms and ammunition, believed to have been destined for one of the warring factions in China, were seized on the Pacific Mail dock just before the steamer President Pierce sailed for the Orient. The contraband was found by government agents among the passenger baggage.

In the lot were 100 Mauser pistols and 10,000 rounds of ammunition, sixty .38-caliber American revolvers and 6000 cartridges. Some of the Mausers were second hand and it is believed by government agents that the guns were used in service in the German army during the World War.

Discovery of the contraband was made by employees of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, who suspected something was wrong when their attention was called to an unusually heavy trunk. They reported their suspicions to S. E. Armstrong, special agent of the Treasury Department. Armstrong immediately detailed Customs Agent John Smith and a corps of customs inspectors to go to the vessel.

On opening the trunk the agents found the firearms. Then they sought out from the mass of baggage, all similar heavy trunks. Their search was rewarded by the discovery of five more trunks containing arms.

The trunks had been taken to the pier earlier in the day and were marked W. J. Jones and W.

SLAVS IN ENTRY AFTER SECOND U. S. TRIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Being barred out of the United States once because the Russian quota of immigrants for the month was exhausted did not dishearten eight would-be residents of America. When sent back to Asia in August, they took the very next boat back to San Francisco and were admitted on their second application because the October Russian quota is not yet exhausted.

J. Smith. No such names, said steamship officials appeared on the passenger list.

All of the contraband was removed to the government storehouse and a rigid investigation will be made by the federal authorities.

Denied Admission.
The eight Russians arrived in San Francisco July 15, with sixty-five others, from Yokohama. The July quota was exhausted and all were denied admission. They took the matter to the courts without success. Finally, Immigration Commissioner John D. Nagle advised all the Russians to return to Japan, from whence they had sailed. He said those who went back to Japan would stand a good chance of being admitted in the October quota, and the T. K. K. Steamship company, which brought them here, would have to carry them free.

Eight took his advice and arrived again, having made a round-trip to Japan since they were deported August 21. They were released. The sixty-five others who decided to stay and fight the matter in the courts, are still held at Angel Island.

"And it does not look as though they ever will get in, either," Nagle said, "because the Russian quota is being rapidly used up at the rate of 5363 a month, this number being 20 per cent of the year's allowance. The statutes provide that one-fifth of the year's quota can be admitted per month, so the whole year's allowance, at the present rate of immigration, will be exhausted in November, being five months since the fiscal year started, July 1. The sixty-five will not have time to go back now and get here in time for the November quota. After next month no more will be admitted until July 1, 1924."

Captors Outwitted As Girl Runs Into House

SEATTLE, Oct. 9.—Two Seattle city detectives arrested a comely young woman in a residence district. They declared that they had been hunting her for two weeks, and that she had stolen several thousand dollars' worth of desirable things from some of the city's finest homes. At the entrance of an apartment house the prisoner said that she lived there. Passing through a hall with her captors, she darted into an apartment and slammed the door. She told the woman living in the apartment that the men seen in the hall through a glass door were kidnappers. The woman called the police by phone, allowing her visitor to flee by way of a fire escape. The fugitive left no name.

FURTHER DELAY ENCOUNTERED IN PETITION

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 9.—With the opinion of City Attorney Clyde Bishop that the petition introduced a week ago to City Clerk Alfred Smith referring to the proposed referendum was not strictly in accord with law, and therefore not officially before the board, action is again up to the signers and backers of this petition, it was learned at the meeting of the board of trustees.

New affidavits must be signed and filed with the city clerk, and must be made within ten days, according to the ruling of City Attorney Bishop.

Action on the petition was taken Monday night when, after discussing various business, the matter of the petition was again brought to the attention of the council. After a lengthy discussion Mr. Bishop was asked to express an opinion on the petition. He read the law covering the referendum and then pointed out to members of the council where, in his opinion, the backers of the petition had neglected to make the petition strictly in accord with the law.

The following is a letter from City Clerk Alfred Smith to L. L. Garrison, who presented the petition to Mr. Smith. He was advised by Mr. Bishop that this letter must be given to the persons who had introduced the petition.

"On the first day of October, 1923, you delivered to me as clerk of the city of Newport Beach, a document apparently containing a copy of Ordinance No. 242 of the city of Newport Beach and protesting against the passage thereof and requesting its appeal or its submission to the vote of the electors of the city of Newport Beach at a special election.

"I have examined the said document and advise you that there is not attached thereto or to each or any separate paper thereof nor is the same accompanied by an affidavit showing by whom the same was circulated, or that, to the best of any information or belief, of the person circulating it, if any did circulate it, that the signatures thereto are the signatures of qualified electors of the city of Newport Beach.

"I am advised that it is my duty to give you this information and request that you act in the matter as you consider proper.

"Dated October 8, 1923.

"(Signed) ALFRED SMITH.

"Clerk of the City of Newport Beach."

The petitions were circulated by L. L. Garrison, H. L. Sherman, Louis R. Briggs and Everett S. Gardiner.

Further action concerning the petition is expected at the next meeting of the board, it was said.

DRAMATIC LEAGUE URGED IN ORANGE

ORANGE, Oct. 9.—If sufficient interest is shown this evening by Orange people with dramatic talent a Players' League will be organized by the intention of presenting several plays this winter. It was announced by F. H. Carrier, dramatic coach at the high school.

"The Orange district should have such an organization," said Mr. Carrier. "This may function through the high school. Last year our play was presented as a community play through the night school. If there are enough people interested this year several plays will be given. All who are interested are asked to meet Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium for a discussion of the matter."

Street Repairs At Beach Are Ordered

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 9.—The city trustees last night passed on the ordinance providing for the repairing and resurfacing of Seventeenth street, from Main to Clay street.

Four inch paving.—The ordinance provides that the bids of the contractors shall be for the purpose of laying concrete paving four inches thick in places where it is necessary to repair the pavement.

Over the top of the existing pavement and the patchwork which the contractor will put in will be laid a two inch covering of Willette. Bids are to be submitted at once, it was decided. A considerable amount of excavation will be necessary in the patchwork necessary.

The contractor must also grade the shoulders of the road up to the level of the new pavement. The resolution providing for the repair work on Seventeenth street is No. 401.

Extension Secured

An extension of sixty days was secured by City Attorney Lewis Blodgett, from the railroad commission in which to complete the grade crossing on Clay street.

Reports of the law sprinkling system soon to be installed at the grounds of the city hall and municipal auditorium were given by City Engineer L. F. Gates. The easement was granted to the Pacific Electric railway for a three foot culvert under the highway at Twenty-third street.

The railroad consented to assist the city in the installation of the culvert. It had been the plan of the city to install culverts at several of the other streets for the purpose of establishing public comfort stations.

The next meeting of the trustees will be held Oct. 22.

COLLEGE BANQUET SET FOR DECEMBER

FULLERTON, Oct. 9.—A number of Northern Orange county people are expected to attend the $100,000 John Greenleaf Whittier banquet to be held in Los Angeles December 17, at the Ambassador hotel, at which it is expected 1000 guests, at $100 a plate, will be seated. William G. McAdoo will be one of the principal speakers.

At this banquet which will be one of the greatest educational gatherings ever held in the country, Walter F. Dexter, new president of Whittier college, and sponsor of the affair, expects to announce other large gifts to the school looking toward the addition of $1,000,000 to the college endowment and an immediate building program of $500,000.

A central committee of one hundred leading men of Whittier are backing this banquet and the Whittier chamber of commerce has given its hearty support to the enterprise. The banquet will mark the beginning of the expansion and development of Whittier college along lines that are commensurate with the high ideals exemplified by the man in whose honor it was founded, according to Dr. Walter F. Dexter, the man responsible for the enlarged program upon which Whittier college is starting.

Whittier's building program will include a memorial administration building to John Greenleaf Whittier representing an expenditure in the neighborhood of $500,000.

PACIFIC FLEET OPENS WAR ON SHORE FRAUDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—The "Ralph Nickleby's" of Southern California were flayed by the Naval Weekly, official publication of the battle fleet. The weekly charged that sailors from the fleet have been persistently swindled by small loan houses and illegitimate gambling devices in the ports, and that the police of San Diego and Los Angeles have failed to investigate the conditions.

The charges are part of a campaign being made by the officers and men of the fleet for the removal of the loan houses, which it is claimed charge bluejackets interest as high as 100 per cent for one week, and of the unlawful gaming devices.

It is stated that the gamblers, as a rule, do not make their appearance until a few days before payday in the fleet, and then remain just long enough to make a "clean sweep." Their motto is declared to be "If we don't get their money some one else will."

Investigations also are being made into an alleged practice of seashore merchants of charging naval men double and triple the prices charged civilians for the same articles.

A recent inquiry in the fleet showed that the sailing is running regarding the rates charged by loan houses and pawnbrokers who have advanced money to bluejackets who were suddenly called home in emergencies.

In one case a bluejacket declared that when his mother died he had to put a valuable diamond ring in pawn in order to travel to his home. He said that when he came back for the ring, several weeks later, he was informed that his interest would be in excess of 100 per cent.

SOPRANO TO APPEAR HERE 'WINS' COAST

One year ago Alice Forsyth Mosher, soloist of the Los Angeles choir appearing at the Santa Ana high school auditorium here in concert Thursday night, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Musical association, was virtually unknown in the musical world of the Pacific coast.

Today, it was pointed out by association members, Mrs. Mosher, following her debut in Los Angeles, in which she appeared solely on her merit as a concert soprano, quickly established herself with other well-known artists who have appeared.

Likewise, it was shown, Mrs. Mosher this season will "play" the Pacific coast entirely, with the exception of one trip to Colorado.

The Los Angeles trio open a series of numbers to be given this season by the local musical group.

BEACH WOMAN IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 9.—Mrs. C. Thompson was slightly injured in an accident involving cars late last night.

The accident occurred when a Ford coupe driven by O. Gorman of Whittier struck the Chevrolet coupe in which Mrs. Thompson was riding with her husband and two children. The Thompson car was driven across the street and into another car.

Mrs. Thompson received a dislocated jaw bone. The accident occurred on the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets about 9 p. m. Mr. Gorman is employed in the local oil fields.

CITY AUDITORIUM RATES ARE FIXED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 9.—An ordinance fixing the rates and regulations for the use of the municipal auditorium was last night adopted at the regular meeting of the city trustees.

For mass meetings and there is no admission charge made or collection taken, and which is not for financial gain the use of the building will be free.

For mass meetings held for the purpose of financial gain, where admission is charged or a collection is taken, or for invitational dances and parties, which are not open to the entire public, the charge shall be $25 for the afternoon and evening. Should the occasion be in the afternoon or the evening only the charge shall be $15.

Up to the present time no charges have been made for the use of the auditorium. The letting of the auditorium will be entirely in the hands of the city clerk, who may accept or reject any applications for the use of the hall which he deems best. His decisions are subject to the rule of the city council, however, and the person, or persons, may take the matter to the council meeting.

A written application stating by whom the auditorium is desired and for what purpose the building will be used, must be given to the city clerk. The money for the use of the hall, if a charge is made, must be paid to the city clerk.

Mr. Adair, who is constructing a new store building on Fifth street, asked the council for a report on the time when the actual work on the widening of Fifth street would start. All of the money is reported to be in, with the exception of that of three property owners.

As soon as the money is paid in it will be disbursed to the property owners for the condemnation of their property and the work will commence soon afterward.

Tract number 578 was approved by the board of trustees.

WITNESS-JUDGE DENIES CHANGE OF VENUE

Defying State's Attorney-General U. S. Webb, who declared that: "No more shocking impropriety can be presented in court than a judge sitting as court and as a witness," and denying that he has shown any bias or prejudice, Superior Judge Stanley Murray, sitting for Superior Judge B. C. Robinson of Oakland, refused to relinquish himself in hearing a motion for a retrial of the Leon Morrison will contest and ordered that the opponents to the will present their case.

Judge Murray, while sitting for Judge Robinson here in July, admitted to probate a "mystery will" received through the mail by Miss Marian Scott, former secretary of Morrison, and awarded the $100,000 estate to her. His decision was given after three weeks of hearing at which three handwriting experts declared the purported will a forgery, while three other experts just as emphatically declared the document genuine. The will named Miss Scott as sole legatee of the $100,000 estate left by the eccentric clothier.

After his decision had been given and the will admitted to probate, Attorney Louis Gonsalves and E. E. Gohring, representing distant relatives, and Frank L. Guereña, representing Attorney-General Webb, filed motions for a retrial.

Their motions were supported by affidavits in which bias and prejudice were charged to Judge Murray. It was also charged that prior to submission of the case to him, Judge Murray expressed himself as "pretty well satisfied and pretty certain of what the result would be."

Attorney-General Webb personally moved that Judge Murray be disqualified from hearing the motion for a new trial.

100,000 Attend Big Fresno County Fair

FRESNO, Oct. 9.—When the final check has been made on receipts of the Fresno district fair, attendance is expected to be around the 100,000 mark, according to estimates made by fair officials. Check of the first five days attendance showed that the total of 1922 had been exceeded by approximately 3,000, according to Manager H. E. Patterson.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION PROPOSED

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 9.—With the protest of last week concerning the report of the advent of a proposed lumber yard and mill to be located in what is now termed a residential zone and which the city trustees proposed changing into a business zone which would permit the erection of the lumber yard, still fresh in their minds, the city council Monday were informed that the city clerk was in receipt of a petition signed by 135 persons concerning the proposed change in the zone.

Ask Postponement.—The letter of explanation, accompanying the petition, declared that, whereas, a protest had been lodged with the city trustees concerning the change of the zone, the signers of this petition, do petition the city council to wait action and instead appoint a commission on city planning.

"That you take no action at this time on any amendment to the zoning ordinance and that instead of such action you appoint a city planning commission which shall consist of not less than five members, of whom the city engineer shall be one, and that the railway companies now serving the city and any that may contemplate entering the city in the near future be asked to co-operate with the commission in order that it may have the assistance and advice of their engineers in making a plan for rail connection with our industrial district."

"That the said city planning commission report back to the trustees recommending a concrete and definite plan for the boundaries of our industrial district for the development of same and, if possible, for the removal of industries which are now established on what should properly be residential property to the industrial district."

The trustees immediately after the letter introducing the petition was read, and following a lengthy discussion of it, announced themselves in favor of ordering a committee of seven, to include several Newport clubwomen, to investigate the matter and make a report of their findings to the next meeting.

This was acted upon immediately and the following were appointed on the committee to investigate: Paul Kiley, city engineer; W. A. Irvin, Glen Helms, Andrew H. Wilson, Fred Young and Mrs. Sam Meyer and Mrs. W. W. Wilson.

Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange county harbor chamber of commerce will probably act as secretary of the committee and later on the city planning commission.

W. C. Burris, who, at the last meeting, protested to the council on the proposed change of the zone, declared last night at the meeting that the citizens in that community did not object to any industries but they were against the erection of a lumber yard, which he termed a fire trap.

"Let manufacturers come in and build brick buildings and the like and they will find the people with them, but we do not want a fire trap," he declared.

MAN 'MADE UP' WITH ROUGE IN HOME DUTIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—"Frances-Freddy" Thompson, acquitted of the murder of Richard C. Tesmer, wealthy insurance man, in a hold-up, was back in "her" flat dressed in feminine garments, sweeping, dusting, minding the parrot and attending to other household duties. "Her" cheeks were skillfully made up with powder and rouge and "she" was busily superintending the cooking of a pot roast dinner.

Physicians have declared that "Frances-Freddy" is a man and should be forced to wear masculine garments. It was successfully argued in court that while he is of the masculine gender, in mind, heart and instincts he really is a woman.

"Frances-Freddy" is to break into the stage game. Several offers came, and he signed one contract to appear in a Loop theater, wearing an evening dress, carrying an ostrich fan, and he will do a song and dance.

Meanwhile the Tesmer case remains where it was before the arrest of Thompson, the mystery unsolved, with not the slightest clue to the identity of the girl, or the man dressed as a girl, who put a bullet through the brain of the insurance man.

Oakland Boy Is Killed In Shotgun Accident

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Manuel Frates, 12 years old, living at 949 Railroad avenue, Oakland, was killed instantly when his shotgun was accidentally exploded as he was starting out on a hunt in San Leandro bay in company with three other boys. The Frates lad was "anchor man" of the party, which climbed into a row boat. He started the boat into the bay by pushing against the bank with the butt of his gun. As he was pulling the gun inboard the trigger caught against a thwart and the full charge of shot was fired into the boy's mouth.

Petition Finally Is Turned Over To Newport City Clerk

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 9.—The expected and much advertised petition for a referendum vote on the ordinance granting a pipe line and pier loading privilege to the Thomas W. Simmons company of San Francisco passed into the hands of the city clerk yesterday. There were 190 signers.

At the meeting of the trustees next Monday it is expected that all technicalities and legalities will have been taken care of or removed and the board will be in a position to take formal action in regard to the calling of an election. In the meantime, another petition, pushed by the same group in Balboa who would restrain the trustees from allowing the loading of tankers, has been circulated with the provision that the city council may not pass a pipeline and loading ordinance without the consent of the people.

SAILS WITH BIG CARGO.—MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 9.—Another cargo of British Columbia lumber is now en route to Montreal from Vancouver via the Panama canal, consigned to a Montreal firm. It comprises about 5,000,000 feet. The magnitude of the lumber import trade to Montreal was made apparent recently when it was estimated by one firm that, in the course of ten months, they will have brought into this port eight cargoes of lumber from Vancouver, estimated at from thirty-five to forty million feet.

OBITUARY

Died, at his home near Tustin, Calif., October 1, 1923, of tuberculosis, Lincoln A. Sears, aged sixty-one years, three months and twenty-one days.

Mr. Sears was born in Clark county, Illinois, June 1, 1862. His life was spent in that vicinity until 1913, when, with his family, he came to California and settled near Tustin.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mary A. Williams, January 4, 1888. To them were born five children—three sons and two daughters.

In 1906 Mr. Sears was converted and united with the Advent Christian church of Dennison, Illinois, and has since lived a devoted Christian life, being at the time of his death a member of the Advent Christian church of Tustin.

Mr. Sears had been ailing for some time, and about a year ago since that time has been confined to his bed the most of the time. The last few weeks of his life he was a great sufferer. But in all his suffering he was very patient and uncomplaining. In every way he gave evidence of a surrendered will and a likeness to his divine Lord. He died in the triumphs of the Christian faith.

He is survived by his widow and four children—Mrs. Bertha B. Taylor, Mrs. Laura B. Marks, Mr. Hurley P. Sears and Mr. Edwin L. Sears, and by ten grandchildren. Also he has one brother living in Marshall, Illinois.

The funeral services were held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the undertaking parlors of Smith and Tuthill, Santa Ana. Rev. William E. Snider of the Advent Christian church of Tustin, officiating. The text was found in Second Timothy, Chapter four, Verses seven and eight: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course; I have kept the faith—henceforth, there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing."

Mr. and Mrs. Bird, of the San Joaquin Fruit ranch, sang two duets, which were beautifully rendered.

"No sickness there—No weary wasting of the frame away; No fearful shrinking from the midnight air—No dread of summer's bright and fervid ray!"

"No hidden grief, No wild and cheerless visions of despair; No vain petition for a swift relief—No tearful eyes, no broken hearts are there."

S. F. Man Sent to Jail At Request of Sister

Arthur E. Yesner, a young salesman, was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail by Police Judge Jacks at the request of his sister, Miss Mary Yesner, who said she wanted her brother to be cured of the narcotic habit. She said she had caused his arrest and asked that he be sentenced only to help him. "She's right," said the defendant earnestly. "I want to be cured and as my sister says, jail where I cannot get it is the only way. I'm glad she had me arrested."

EXCITEMENT OF CHARIVARI IS DEATH CAUSE

ANAHEIM, Oct. 9.—Miss Norma Schindler, 25-year-old daughter of Mrs. Henrietta Schindler of this city, dropped dead while participating in a charivari at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Matter in Maywood.

News of her death was brought to this city by members of the party who accompanied Miss Schindler to the home of the newlyweds where they had planned a surprise house warming.

Sitting in one of the automobiles as they stopped near the house, Miss Schindler joined others in the charivari by beating upon a tin pan with a large spoon. The spoon flew from her hand, and when she stepped out of the car to pick it up, a sudden heart attack gripped her and she fell to the ground, lifeless.

After an inquest in Maywood, the body will be brought to Anaheim for burial. Miss Schindler, who was born here and was graduated from the local high school, is survived by her mother, four brothers and three sisters. Funeral arrangements are being made at the Backs, Terry & Campbell chapel.

WORLD POWER CONFERENCE

American engineering, technical and industrial organizations are preparing to take part in a big "world power conference" that is to be held in London next July.

Here is something potentially more important than any of the diplomatic pow-wows now interesting various nations. It may help one's sense of real values to run through this account of what a statesman would call the "agenda" of the conference:

"The potential resources of each country in hydro-electric power, oil and minerals will be taken up, and experiences in the development of scientific agriculture, irrigation and transportation by land, water and air compared. Conferences of civil, electrical, mechanical, marine and mining engineers, technical experts and authorities on scientific and industrial research will be held.

"There will be consultations of power consumers and manufacturers of instruments of production, and educational methods in different countries will be reviewed. Discussions will be arranged on the financial and economic aspects of industry, nationally and internationally.

"The question of establishing a permanent world bureau for the collection of data, the preparation of inventories of the world's resources and the exchange of industrial and scientific information through appointed representatives in the various countries will come up."

It may be admitted that real progress, prosperity and happiness for the human race lie along these lines of friendly scientific co-operation for the utilization of the world's resources. When one thinks of "world power" as natural enough to be made available for man's use, rather than mere political or military power, a lot of foolish illusions fade and the possibilities of human life suddenly look clearer.

CARELESSLY LOST DOLLARS

Criticizing the efficiency of a business concern is one of the favorite all-seasons sports of many persons who are thoroughly unbusinesslike in their conduct of their own affairs.

One of the leading publications of the country announces in a recent issue that it has in its files several thousand dollars that do not belong to it. These dollars came in, a few at a time, as remittances without any sort of identification of the sender. The magazine cites a typical instance.

An abusive letter came to the office one day asking how it expected "to keep customers with such treatment" and stating that the writer had an account with the company, had agreed to pay $5 a month for a set of books, had paid two monthly installments and had received no books, no credit and no receipt. The letter was signed with two initials and a name with no indication as to whether the writer was woman, married or single, or a man.

It took weeks of painstaking correspondence before the firm could elicit from the wrathful subscriber that the person signing the letter had ordered the books as a Miss Someone Else in St. Louis. She had married soon after and removed to a town in Illinois without notifying the company of her change of name and address. She had sent in her two monthly payments from Illinois, a five-dollar bill each time, one with her husband's name written on a piece of paper and pinned to the bill, the other with no writing at all.

And there are scores of other simple souls doing exactly the same thing.

FARMER AND WORKMAN

Senator-elect Magnus Johnson of Minnesota says he is sure that the farmer-labor combination will work on a national scale because there is co-operation of these two elements in his state.

It may be fairly questioned whether Minnesota affords a good test. It is mainly a farming state. Will farmers and industrial workers co-operate so harmoniously in states where they are about equally divided? Or will the workmen be able to see the farmers' point in states mainly industrial?

On general principles, it would seem strange indeed if these two classes were to join and work together, on a large scale, because their economic interests are so much at variance with each other. The farmer, primarily a capitalist and business man, wants to get the most he can for his crops and pay as little as possible for manufactured goods. The industrial worker wants to pay as little as possible for his portion of those crops and to get as much as possible for his own work—thereby raising the price of what the farmer has to buy. How can those opposite interests be reconciled to any political program?

So far, they have not been reconciled, but each class has taken what it would get through organization and legislation, regardless of the other. Latterly the industrial workers have been getting the better of the struggle. The farmers naturally want their inning. They deserve it, but organized labor will hardly help them much.

SPEECHES OR WORK

There will be a memorial service held in New York next month in honor of President Harding. President Coolidge was asked to participate.

It would have been a very appropriate thing for him to do. Sentiment and tact, no doubt, both suggested his acceptance. To refuse would have seemed a peculiarly ungracious thing. But Mr. Coolidge, with the big demands of his job in mind, put it up to the delegation inviting him. Would the New Yorkers, he asked, rather have him take the time necessary to prepare an address in honor of his predecessor, and go to New York and deliver it, or remain on the job in Washington, devoting the time to putting into effect his predecessor's policies?

When the matter was put in that way, the delegation reluctantly admitted that the President had probably better stay on the job.

It would be a blessing if, without having the same choice put to them formally, a few hundred other delegates every year could show the same consideration for the great and burdensome office of President.

MOVING MOUNTAINS

When the prophet Mohammed commanded the mountain to come to him, he was not so absurd as many generations of scoffers have thought him. Although the mountain would hardly have obeyed him in any event, he was nevertheless on solid scientific ground. Mountains do move, says Dr. Bailey Willis, professor emeritus of geology at Leland Stanford University, who ought to know. Only Mohammed might have had to wait a long time for the particular mountain he wanted. Mountains move slowly—even more slowly than the glaciers which Mark Twain once tried to use for transportation purposes.

Dr. Willis tells of experiments of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey showing that the California mountains are moving northward at the rate of about one foot in five years. In the millions of years since those mountains were created, he is sure, they have moved many miles. His own recent investigations in South America show that the Andes are moving eastward, at the rate of perhaps six or seven feet in 100 years.

No wonder there are earthquakes, with mountain ranges rambling around over the landscape like that. The knowledge, too, may be disquieting to real estate men, especially those addicted to 99-year leases. Our posterity, if it happens to go in for owning mountains, will have a lot of trouble with boundary lines.

Welcome Lloyd George

Fresno Republican

A statesman of the vigor, clear vision and practical common sense, as well as patriotic loyalty of David Lloyd George has naturally accumulated, through the years, a record full of striking evidences and popular reactions.

He is welcomed to the United States today as a chief citizen of a friendly power. There is a dramatic quality about his personality that appeals to any people. There is also, of course, a vigor about his factional relations first in British politics, and second in his controversial relationship with Irish, French, German and other questions that has aroused hostility. These matters necessarily go to make up the composite picture of the man.

Primarily, the affectionate regard of liberals all over the world will be extended to Lloyd George because he has been, from the beginning, a "commoner." Even though, at times, he has been accused of liking the pomp of high relationships, he has never been suspected of being a snob. He has "walked with kings, nor lost the common touch." A Welsh barrister of humble youth and struggling manhood, he gained distinction because of courage in selecting English landed wealth to the taxation necessities of state. He gained preeminence in the world war by placing effective national action ahead of precedents in British political manners.

Of course, Lloyd George has always been an opportunist, and those of us who do not like opportunists do not respect him as a statesman. He has always held the end in view, and has refused to let incidental means interfere with accomplishment, so long as those incidents of action were not dishonorable. As a prime minister of Great Britain, he was indifferent whether those who voted for him were liberal or conservative, Little Englanders or Imperialists, aristocrats or laborites, so long as, in a national cause they worked with him for a national benefit. This was the ground for accusations that he was a trickster. It need not worry his admirers. As a citizen, he was just. As a statesman, he has been loyal. As a man, he has been fair to himself and his fellow man. He has refused to be weak, when strength even harsh strength, was for the good of the great majority of his fellow citizens and for the principles which held them together in communal association.

Riverside Doing Pretty Well

Riverside Press.

Building permits for September in Riverside were larger than for any month in the history of the city. The bank clearings for the nine months to October 1 are nearly as much as for the entire year of 1922 and it seems certain that the total for the year will be some $5,000,000.

The schools are crowded in spite of new rooms provided under the half million dollar bond issue for building improvements. The demand for houses to rent and for homes to sell is unprecedented. New people are coming in every day and new enterprises are adding to our prosperity and prestige.

The automobile of progress in Riverside is going right ahead with a full gas tank and lots of power. Let us all keep it moving.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

MORE ABOUT GOITRE.

In a previous article I spoke about the simple enlargement of the gland in the neck, and also a word about it when complicated with other symptoms.

These other symptoms were, very rapid heart, a trembling of the hands, and a bulging of the eyes.

As this condition is being met with more frequently these days and may lead to serious consequences, perhaps a word might be of help. Men who have spent considerable time in the investigation of the cause of this trouble which is called Grave's disease, are of the opinion that it is caused in just the same manner as many other troubles in the body.

And what is that?

Well some form of infection or irritant has got into the body, and is not being taken care of by the usual work of the system.

You know you get into your body every day, materials that would poison you and do you a lot of harm if your body were not able to take care of them, or throw them out.

And so these men say that perhaps a bad tonsil, a bad tooth, a touch of nasal catarrh, an intestine that is too slow in its work, may often be the cause of the goitre and other symptoms.

They state that the foreign substances manufactured by the above conditions stimulate the thyroid gland to excessive activity in its efforts to supply the blood with materials to fight them. And so its ability as a regulator of the functions of the body is hampered. Thus the real, even, regular control of the nerves is lost to some extent, and these goitrous people are always exceedingly nervous.

And the treatment?

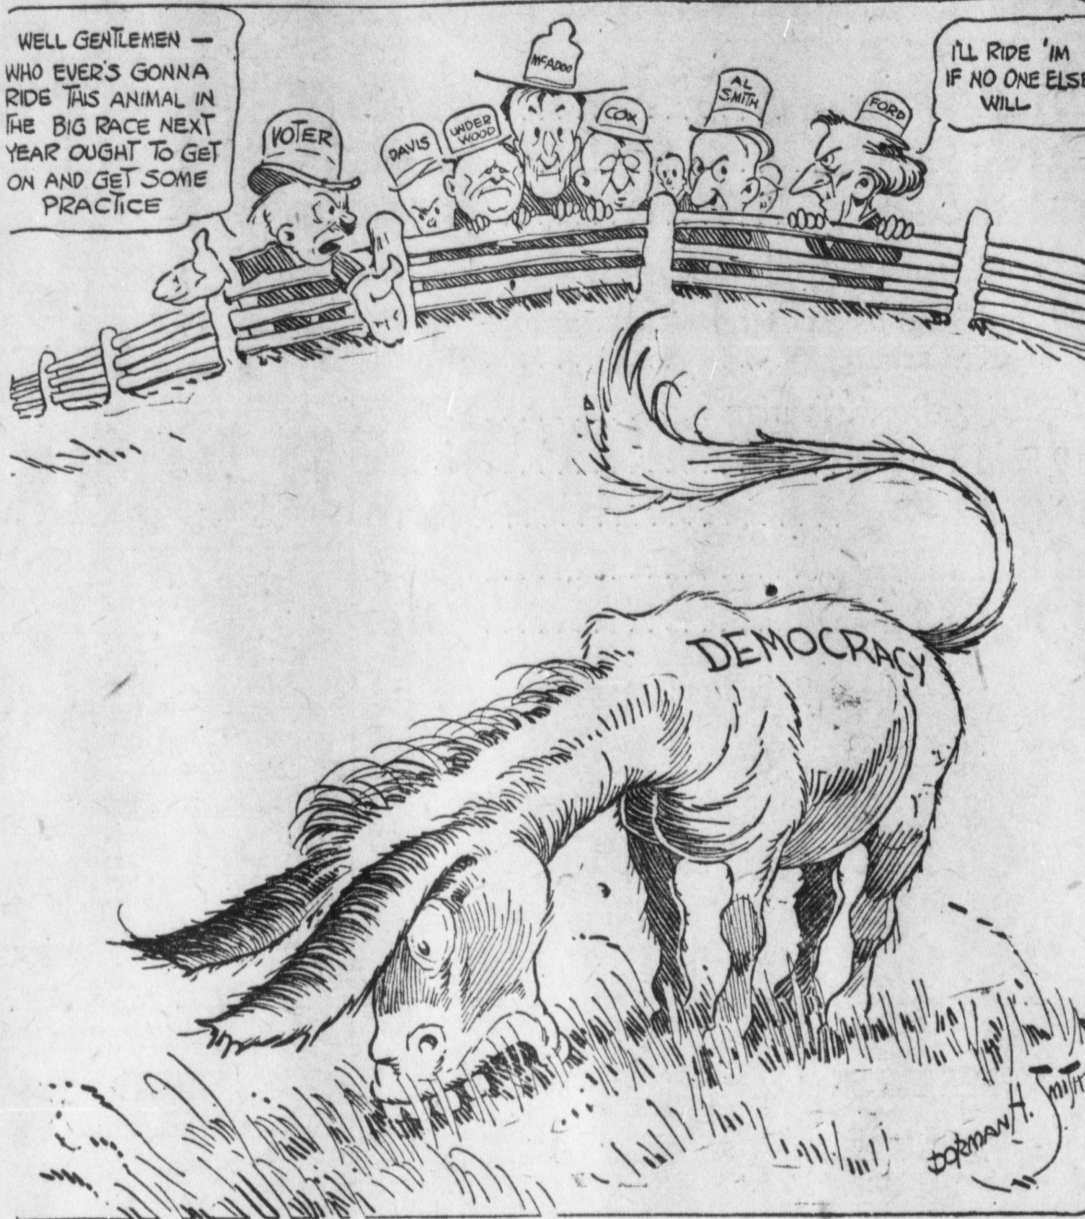

First to try and find out the cause. This may mean removal of teeth, tonsils, or some attention to the nose. Perhaps it will be the correction of chronic constipation.

You see something is being poured into the blood stream and you try to find it. Therefore daily evacuation of the intestine is absolutely essential. In fact the use of rectal injection or enemas is a part of the treatment in nearly every case.

The other big factor in the treatment is rest. This means rest of body and mind, as the nervous symptoms are very prominent.

If after the above line of treatment you get no results, it is time enough then to think of X-Ray treatments, or even surgery.

Why All This Backwardness?

"I Didn't Think"

San Francisco Journal

Poesy tells us that "of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are those, it might have been." But how about those sad words, "I didn't think?"

You do not find these words inscribed upon the headstones of the cemetery, yet many a life has been ruthlessly snuffed out because the victim did not think.

Divorce court verdicts seldom, if ever, admit this tragic line as the causation of domestic difficulties. Yet here, too, the moment of thoughtlessness is often the real culprit.

The judge on the bench wears of the endless procession of stupid lawbreakers who plead their monotonous "not guilty". But rarely a man who seems to understand that he is paying the price of passion and emotion, when he might have saved himself by a little clear thinking.

"I didn't think!" White it above the notice of bankruptcy plastered over a great enterprise. Spell it into the history of financial failure. Render it as a verdict upon a man or woman who might have been a success, but is now only a cog in the great machine of life. Yes, pin it upon the shabby coat of indigent old age.

Ancient as the wisdom of the world is the adage "As a man thinketh, so is he". Yet with all our wisdom we have not attained the wisdom of thinking out every move to its logical end before we begin. Think!

Worth While Verse

AT THE LAST

The stream is calmest when it nears the tide,
The flowers the sweetest at the eventide,
And birds most musical at close of day,
And saints divinest when they pass away.

Morning is lovely, but a holier charm
Lies folded close in Evening's robe of balm
And weary man must ever love her best,
For Morning calls to toil, but Night to rest.

She comes from Heaven, and on her wings doth bear
A holy fragrance, like the breath of prayer;
Footsteps of angels follow in her trace,
To shut the weary eye of Day in peace.

All things are hushed before her as she throws
O'er earth and sky her marble of repose;
There is a calm, a beauty and a power
That Morning knows not, in the Evening hour.

Until the Evening must we weep and toil,
Plow Life's stern furrows, dig the weedy soil,
Tread with sad feet our rough and stormy way,
And bear the heat and burden of the day.

Oh, when our sun is setting, may we glide
Like Summer Evening down the golden tide;
And leave behind us, as we pass away,
Sweet, starry twilight 'round our sleeping clay!

—Author Unknown.

Alaska For Alaskans

"Let Alaska be for real Alaskans. Let there be no reckless sacrifice of its resources for quick profits."

Such was the gospel of sane development of America's frontier empire that President Harding was planning to urge upon the American people when the great calamity of San Francisco put a tragic stop to his labors. It was the policy he formulated at Fairbanks, Alaska, after he had reached the northerly limit of his trip through our subarctic wonderland—a policy which he outlined there to Joe Mitchell Chapple, correspondent for McClure's Magazine, and later sketched in his Seattle speech.

Joe Mitchell Chapple, the late president's biographer, reports Harding's opinions in the course of a comprehensive review of the historic Alaskan trip published in the October McClure's.

It was in the partially-completed hotel Nordale at Fairbanks, Mr. Chapple says, that President Harding relaxed, in the midst of the almost continuous hours of speaking and official business.

"Fairbanks appears a seemly place to take a reckoning," he mused, as he filled his pipe. "We are turning southward again. Let's go over the situation."

"Alaska, I have come to see, is our great pioneer reserve—and these are the right people here now to meet its problems by a slow, but permanent development."

"The old notion of capitalists swooping down on Alaska to make their pile and get out has passed. It is now a question of stayers—men who are equal to the struggle."

"While the products of the fisheries in Alaska are greater than the wealth of the mines, there is danger of exhausting the supply—more restrictions would seem to be necessary. Forest conservation, frankly, I see now is not too drastic. Coal is being mined satisfactorily. Perhaps we need some changes, but the coal is unlimited. The oil development should be encouraged, but to develop these oil resources of the north will require millions of private capital under the lure of returns as reflected in the California and Mexican fields. The great problem now is the lack of transportation. Agriculture in Alaska is relative to other development, but needs liberal encouragement. If fisheries, forests and mines are looted there is no hope for farms, but a permanent well-founded policy of substantial development will make agriculture a factor in Alaska's dream of statehood."

"The railroad we have just come over is a triumph of American skill and perseverance against obstacles. If the world only knew of this gorgeous scenic route, Alaska could count on a substantial revenue from tourists."

"With rational generosity, shortening the distance between Alaska and Washington, working with these people, we will have in Alaska the making of a great state."

A real understanding of the people and problems of Alaska, gained in a remarkably short time, was one of the chief acquisitions which President Harding brought back from his trip, according to Mr. Chapple.

"These people have preserved the sturdy spirit of the pioneer," the late President said at Wrangell, "and without our pioneers and frontiers we are likely to lose the self-reliance and upstanding courage which has made our nation grow."

"Can you conceive of anything finer than you see here," he continued meditatively, as he puffed his pipe, "where men rear robust, educated families with the right ideals and make happy homes—where they go ahead and do things without fear or favor? Alaska is going to work out her own problems if I judge these people right, for, first of all, they have that great heritage of health which means so much." President Harding sighed as he said these words, and his voice was that of a tired and driven man.

"The marvel of Alaska to me is the virility of every individual I see," he went on. "Of course environment constantly plays an important part in molding strong character and strong people. Here the people have achieved, in this great out-of-doors, a freedom from the restraints of conventionality that helps in the making of strong characters and strong friendships. The longer I live the more firm is my belief that the greatest possessions in the world are dependable friendships."

Not bare? Well, I didn't pay very much heed.

For when I was touring up there We got to discussing the right We suits to bid,

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR ~
~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

Farmer Green's wheelbarrow squealed—

Like a pig in pain—

A DANGEROUS CONTRAPTION

There was something very strange about that Australian wheelbarrow. When Cuffy Bear asked what it was, both Bramble the Bear and the Little Trick Mule had laughed heartily. When Cuff asked the Kangaroo about it, that odd person had turned his back. It was no wonder Cuffy was all the more eager to learn exactly what the Australian wheelbarrow was.

He could not help noticing what a different effect any mention of it produced upon his various neighbors. When he inquired about it, everybody except the Kangaroo was amused. As for the Kangaroo, it was plain that he didn't care to hear it spoken of. It made him angry.

"Watch sharp!" Bramble the Bear told Cuffy at last. "Watch sharp! Sonder or later you'll see the Australian wheelbarrow yourself. It's likely to pass this way almost any day."

"Will it squeal?" Cuffy asked him. "Farmer Green's wheelbarrow used to squeal frightfully. It sounded like a pig in pain."

"This one probably won't squeal," Bramble the Bear answered. "But if the man that pushes it doesn't hold onto it tight, he'll squeal. If it gets away from him, he'll certainly be in terrible pain."

"This was most surprising news. It had never seemed to Cuff Bear that Farmer Green's wheelbarrow was a dangerous contraption. Certainly Cuffy had never seen it turn around and attack Farmer Green, or the hired man, when either of them was pushing it. In fact that wheelbarrow back on the farm had always appeared to be a particularly kind and gentle one.

"My sakes!" cried Cuffy Bear. "I never knew a wheelbarrow to bite. Does the Australian one bite?"

But Bramble the Bear wouldn't say anything more, except, "Watch sharp!"
